2 Others Hurt Near Ellenville

Crash Kills Girl, Kerhonkson Youth

Two persons were killed and two others seriously injured at about 1:45 a. m. today in a two-car head-on collision which occurred on Route 52 a mile and a half west of Ellenville.

State Police and Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp, Kerhonkson, identified the dead as Rose Ann Hoocy, 19, of Clearwater, Fla., operator of one of the vehicles, and a passenger in her car, Harold Schoonmaker, 20, of Kerhonkson.

County Toll Now 23

The two deaths early this morning increased the Ulster County highway death toll for 1963 to 23.

Coroner Chipp said autopsies will be performed to determine the cause of the deaths. A verdict was withheld pending the autopsy report.

Seriously injured were John T. Shelton Jr., 34, of the Nevele Hotel, operator of the second car, and Emma Rose Hill, 21, same address, a passenger in Shelton's car. The injured were taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, and at 5:50 a. m. Shelton was transferred to St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, by the Ellenville First Aid and Rescue Squad.

According to reports of State Police BCI Investigator Michael Mahoney and Troopers William Brown and Robert Lawson of the Ellenville sub-station, Shelton suffered a fractured left elbow, multiple lacerations of the face and contusions and abrasions of both arms and legs, and a possible skull fracture.

Miss Hill was treated for multiple lacerations of the face, contusions and abrasions of both legs and lacerations of the hands. Her condition today was described by a hospital spokesman as satisfactory.

Ejected From Vehicle

Coroner Chipp said the Hoocy car was traveling east along the highway and Shelton was driving in the opposite direction when the left front of each car collided.

Miss Hoocy and Schoonmaker were both ejected from the vehicle in which they were riding.

Shelton was thrown clear of his wrecked car, and Miss Hill told authorities she crawled from the Shelton car after it flipped over two or three times following the early morning collision.

Parley Is Held With Opposition

Butler, Maudling Support Unknown

LONDON (AP)—Lord Home succeeded today in forming a new conservative cabinet and become Britain's prime minister after a morning meeting with the men who had opposed him for the post.

After the meeting, the 60-year-old peer who will succeed ailing Harold Macmillan drove to Buckingham Palace to report to Queen Elizabeth II. There he kissed her hands in the traditional act of homage which seals appointment to the highest political office in the land.

Faces Bitter Fight

With his election, the former British foreign secretary now faces the task of leading his scandal-ridden Conservative party into what is expected to be a bitter fight against the Laborites in a general election that has to be called before November, 1964.

Two of the men who had blocked Home's immediate elevation to the premiership Friday — Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling and Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler — called at No. 10 Downing Street, the prime minister's official residence, shortly after 9 a. m. (5 a. m. EDT).

Butler was closeted with Home for just over an hour. When he left, he declined to say whether Home had succeeded in winning his and Maudling's support.

No Comment for Now

Minutes later Home emerged and told waiting newsmen: "No comment until I have seen the queen. I am going to see her now."

An official announcement from the palace at noon said: "The queen this morning received in audience the Earl of Home, who kissed her hands on his appointment as prime minister and first lord of the treasury."

In the meeting with the queen, Home was received in the audience chamber overlooking the (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

Vandals Blamed For Craft Blaze, Hudson Sinking

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP)—Vandals apparently stole and burned the 20-foot cabin cruiser found sunk in the Hudson River Friday, State Police say.

After divers probed the wreckage, troopers reported Friday night there was no indication that anyone was aboard the vessel when it went down near an island about three miles north of Hudson.

The cruiser and a 16-foot runabout were reported missing Thursday morning from the Hudson Power Boat Club. The smaller craft was found undamaged not far from the club dock. Police beached it in time.

State Police estimated the cruiser loss at $2,000. The owner is Gordon Piester of Hollowville.

Conflict Worsens As Algeria Halts Frontier Traffic

ALGIERS (AP) — Algerian authorities halted air, train and highway traffic between Algeria and Morocco today as the frontier conflict between the two nations worsened.

The stoppage was not officially announced. But passengers inquiring about transportation to Morocco were told all services were interrupted.

Asked when they would be resumed, clerks replied: "There is no information on that subject."

Telephone and telegraph communications were still functioning. Diplomatic relations have not been formally broken off. There was no sign of activity at the Moroccan embassy in Algiers, however, and telephone calls remained unanswered.

Until Friday, the conflict was confined to a remote strip of the Sahara centered 900 miles southwest of Algiers, where the frontier has long been in dispute. The fighting now seemed to be spreading northeastward even to regions where the line is clearly marked and has never been challenged by either side.

In Marrakech, King Hassan II of Morocco accused Algeria of trying to promote a full-scale war by attacking two outposts outside the contested Sahara zone.

Will Prosecute: Brett Warns on Local Blazes; Most of East on Alert

Croplands, Water Are Top Worry

Many Areas Are Hauling Supplies

CHICAGO (AP)—A persistent drought continued to cause widespread concern today as croplands withered, community water supplies dwindled and fires burned out of control in many portions of the eastern United States.

The outlook for rain in many areas was dismal. The U.S. Weather Bureau said, as unseasonably warm temperatures prevailed.

Thousands of Acres Burn

Thousands of acres of forestland are burning. Hunting and fishing have been banned in many areas and millions of acres of land are closed to the public. Many communities are hauling water from distant points.

Firefighters are patrolling some 40 forest fires in a four-county area in central western Pennsylvania. All fires are reported under control, but an estimated 2,300 acres of timber have fallen victim to the raging flames.

Fires continued to burn out of control at New Jersey's Norvin Green State Forest, where more than 1,200 acres already have been blackened. In the 20th day of drought, four more communities began using emergency water in Pennsylvania, bringing to 22 the total without water. Weather forecasters predicted some light relief the first of next week.

New England Acts

New England has closed most of its woodlands and strict ordinances have been passed in several cities. In Rhode Island, all outdoor burning has been banned. Worcester, Mass., has borrowed $200,000 to have water piped in from Boston. In Salem, N.H., airplanes are patrolling its 25 square miles in search of a car-driving woodland arsonist who is believed to have added to the troubles. Smoking in the woods of southern Maine has been outlawed.

In West Virginia, visitors have been banned from all state (Continued on Page 8, Col. 7)

JFK Defends Agreements

Notes War Shadows Despite Hope Rays

ORONO, Maine (AP) — President Kennedy said today "we still live in the shadow of war" even though "there are new rays of hope on the horizon."

Kennedy flatly predicted that basic American - Soviet differences "will give rise to further crises, large and small, in the months and years ahead."

But he said this is no reason to halt the search for genuine peace. He said Americans should be satisfied in mind and heart that they are doing everything possible to avoid the terrors of nuclear war.

Assesses Relations

The President assessed East-West relations in a major foreign policy address prepared for a University of Maine convocation. In a sense, Kennedy seemed to address himself both to leaders of the Soviet bloc and to American voters exposed to the foreign policy views of Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Repeatedly, Kennedy defended recent American - Soviet agreements assailed by Goldwater, the Arizona Republican who may be Kennedy's opponent in the 1964 presidential election. But he never mentioned Goldwater, even indirectly. He simply cited the agreements and termed them "new opportunities which we cannot afford to miss."

Dog's Barry's Footsteps

In flying to New England, Kennedy was dogging Goldwater's footsteps. Three days ago, the senator sharply criticized the President's foreign and domestic policies in a speech at Boston, where Kennedy will address a Democratic fund-raising dinner tonight.

address, called attention to the timing of his remarks — one week before the first anniversary of the grave crisis that followed the discovery of Soviet missiles in Cuba.

And he said the recent "pause (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

Feel Rocky Near Brink of Formal Candidacy Word

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller moved across this key political state today, conceding he is running behind and pledging to "fight a little harder" in the contest for the Republican presidential nomination.

Knows He's Lagging

Rockefeller said Friday night he knew he was lagging in the unofficial polls but declared he had no intention of running for cover "when the going gets a little rough."

The New York governor moved to the brink of a formal declaration of candidacy for the GOP nomination as he opened a campaign to win support in New Hampshire.

The state will hold the first presidential preference primary of 1964 on March 10.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, leader of the conservative wing of the Republican party, seems to command support of a majority of Republicans in New Hampshire at the moment.

Area Hit By Fires; 80 in N.Y.

Orange Flare One Of Most Serious

Fire Chief James M. Brett, in the wake of grass and leaf fires which struck throughout the city Friday and last night, today issued a warning that persons apprehended for "maliciously starting" fires would be vigorously prosecuted "regardless of age."

Fire fighters and police responded to at least eight alarms Friday, mostly in the uptown area. Police said that at least one of the fires, which broke out in the wooded area near Burgevin and Noone Streets Friday afternoon was "definitely set," as was what firemen called a "malicious false alarm" about the same time.

23 New State Fires

Meanwhile, more than 80 fires lit up the skies over Upstate New York Friday night, including 23 new ones that cropped up during the day. The most serious of these was a blaze that raged over 1,500 acres of timberland on a mountain top near Greenwood Lake in Orange County.

Closer to home, volunteers from Mt. Marion-Ruby, Plattekill and Cragmoor battled wood and brush fires into the hours of pitch dark.

And, to add to the existing perils, the state health commissioner advised New Yorkers Friday that clouds of smoke billowing over the state could combine with an unusual weather condition to produce smog this weekend.

It would prove a serious discomfort to persons suffering from respiratory and heart ailments, said Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham.

Locally, Chief Brett issued this statement:

"During the drought emergency, any person caught maliciously starting fires will be vigorously prosecuted by this department. We intend to take these measures against any person, regardless of age."

Answer Five Alarms

Kingston paid and volunteer fire fighters responded to five alarms in a nine-hour period, while police checked out an equal number.

Firemen responded to an alarm at 11:18 Friday night at the rear of 172 Pearl Street near the Hutton Nursing Home. They said they found a carton box on fire amid burning leaves. An entry in the department log book indicated a witness saw two figures run from the fire. Engine 2 extinguished the fire with an Indian pump.

Earlier, firemen answered an alarm at 8:55 that proved to be a grass fire on Delaware Avenue below Hasbrouck Park. Union Hose responded.

At 7:58, Engines 2, 3 and Sal-

Grand Opening Is Set on Wednesday For Ward's Store

Edward S. Donnell, Ward's vice president and eastern region general manager, will arrive here Tuesday to participate in grand opening activities of the company's new full-line department store at Route 9W and Boice's Lane, Charles M. Levensgood, store manager, announced today.

The new store opens Wednesday morning at 10.

Donnell will be accompanied by Douglas E. Emmons, Ward's district general manager.

Tuesday night Donnell and Emmons will be hosts during a special reception and preview tour of the new store for company shareholders in the area and other business associates.

The Kingston store has approximately 122,000 sq. ft. of floor space including a 12-car automobile service center, outdoor and seasonal sales areas.

Forty-seven merchandise departments will make available to customers goods ranging from the latest fashions to carved figurines from Tanganyika.

More than 300 employees, 98 per cent of them from the Ulster County area, will staff the new store.

14 New Astronauts Named For Apollo Moon Flights

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The nation has 14 new astronauts and their collegiate training broadens the capabilities of the U.S. space team.

College degrees practically broke even with advanced pilot training Friday as the Manned Spacecraft Center boosted its moon shot manpower pool to 30 astronauts.

All 16 of the astronauts selected in 1959 and 1962 are experienced test pilots but only eight of the new 14 hold test pilot certificates.

Business Review Page 14

A new pep in the nation's economy was signalled this week, Roger Lane, Associated Press business news writer, discusses it in today's Business Week in Review on Page 14.

The other six new trainees are experienced jet pilots who are specialists in such areas as physics, radiation effects, reliability engineering and stratospheric radiance. One of them is the program's first doctor of science.

The National Academy of Science and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are cooperating in establishing criteria for astronaut scientists.

The first "Dr. Astronaut" is Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., an Air Force major from Glen Ridge, N.J., with 2,200 hours of jet flying time.

The doctorate thesis written by Aldrin, 33, at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology earlier this year, was on manned orbital rendezvous, a (Continued on Page 8, Col. 3)

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

The Power of Faith is expressed by many peoples in many ways, from the tops of mountains to the bottom of the sea. At the bottom of the small bay off St. Frutuoso de Camogli, near Genoa, Italy, is a statue known as the "Christ of the Abysses." It was bought with donations from faithful seamen and watersportsmen around the world.

The eight-foot statue was dedicated and lowered into 52 feet of water, 500 yards from shore, in 1954. It serves as a memorial to sailors and all others who have perished in the oceans of the world. Part of the bronze in the statue came from propellers of sunken ships that were reclaimed from the sea.

The "Christ of the Abysses" also serves as a symbol of His protection: "Then He arose and rebuked the winds and the sea, and there was great calm." Matthew 8:26.

Lutheran Men Plan Communion Service Sunday

The Lutheran Church Men's communion service Sunday night at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers Streets, will follow the liturgy in the first English language Lutheran hymnal and service book published in this country.

The book, published in New York City in 1795, was to fill the need for an English language book of worship for the Lutheran congregation in New York and New Jersey whose members had come from Germany and Holland. Following the War of Independence the representatives of the churches in the area gathered to form an independent church body in America. The synod chose as its first leader, the Rev. John Christopher Kunze, the compiler of the book, who was the son-in-law of Henry Melchior Muhlenberg, Patriarch of the Lutherans in Pennsylvania, according to the Rev. David C. Gaise, D.D., pastor of Redeemer Church, which hosts the men's communion supper.

Dr. Gaise pointed out in his announcement that Pastor Kunze received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from the newly formed University of Pennsylvania at the same convocation that gave George Washington his Doctor of Laws degree. The copy of the book which will be used at Sunday's service is autographed by the Rev. Frederick H. Quintan who became the Lutheran pastor in Rhinebeck in 1798 and so has local interest. The Rev. John H. Frensen will give the communion meditation and the Rev. Russell B. Greene will read the lessons.

At 6:30 p. m., prior to the service of communion, the men of St. Paul's, Redeemer and Trinity Lutheran Churches, will have supper together in New Testament tradition. At the supper table they will be addressed by the Rev. James D. Ford, assistant chaplain at the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Sunday school enrollment of 89. Junior and Senior Methodist Youth Fellowships and junior and senior choir groups are among the organizations of the church.

A mid-week Bible study is conducted at the parsonage and a churchwide study program, Our Mission Today will be started in January. There is also an Altar Guild which provides many services for the church.

A cooperative program of union services, vacation Bible school and released time classes are conducted by the Methodist and Reformed Churches of Port Ewen.

Plans are underway to increase Sunday school facilities. In November aluminum siding will be applied to the front and steeple of the church. Last year the parsonage kitchen was remodeled and this year a new front porch was added.

The church was actually started in 1855 when the Rev. William Clark of Esopus conducted services at Port Ewen in Schryver's Hall, which stood on the site of what is now the town hall.

The site of the present church was contributed by the Pennsylvania Coal Company and the church building, then known as the Little Tabernacle, was completed in 1856.

The first meeting for election of officers held in May of that year and the following were elected: Alexander Hamilton, Leonard Whitney, James Elmendorf, Francis H. Dolye and William Horton.

Twelve years later, however the congregation had outgrown the building and so the present church building was begun. It was dedicated Jan. 7, 1869.

It is interesting to note that Wallace Schryver, present chairman of the membership and evangelism, carries on a family tradition. His grandfather, Philip A. Schryver, was a member of the original board and his maternal grandfather, schooner captain, William B. Gurney, has a stained glass window in the church endowed in his memory.

One of the outstanding features of the interior of the church is the hand carved oak altar, retables, wainscot, communion rail, pulpit, lectern, baptismal font and hymn board. The Gothic style carving was done by George Huber of Rosendale and was dedicated at services in 1952. It was the gift of members and organizations in the church.

3 Laymen Will Speak on Sunday At Clinton Avenue

The Sunday morning worship service at Clinton Avenue Methodist will be devoted to the annual observance of Laymen's Day using the theme "Your Neighbor as Yourself." Laymen will conduct the service in which there will be participating representatives from the Woman's Society of Christian Service, the Methodist Men, the Methodist Youth Fellowship, the Church School, Finance Commission, Choir and the lay leadership.

The laymen's message will be delivered by three speakers: On Our Street, Lawrence M. Jensen, associate lay leader. In Our Community, Thomas W. Miller, Church and District lay leader. Anywhere in the World, Dr. Rex D. Depew, associate lay leader. Other members of the laity participating in the service will be Arthur G. Crist, associate lay leader, Mrs. Thomas W. Miller, vice president of Women's Society of Christian Service, Robert W. Ohlson, chairman, finance commission, William E. Brown, president of Methodist Men, Titus B. Sims, superintendent of the Church School, Theodore Gile Jr., supervising the ushers, the Methodist Youth Fellowship will provide the ushers, the senior choir under the direction of Anthony Hummel, B.S.M.A., will provide special music. Mrs. June Munson is the organist.

The Rev. Reginald T. Edwards, minister, announced that "the Laymen's service, under the direction of the Church Lay Leader, is one of the high points in the church program. The significance of the part played by the laity in the total church program is recognized by the ministerial and lay leaders of all denominations."

The public is invited to attend

Fair St. Laymen To Have Service

The Fair Street Reformed Church, 209 Fair Street, will observe Sunday, Oct. 20, as Laymen's Sunday. This is an annual observance, under the auspices of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America, whereby the entire service of divine worship is conducted by lay members of the Church.

The theme for the service is "Thy Neighbor as Thyself, and at each service the sermon will be devoted to this theme. The sermon will be divided into three parts, and those preaching will be: Douglas Roosa, Dr. Milton M. Grover and John M. Walker at the 9:30 service; and Arling L. Kalleberg, Robert P. Crago, and Walter T. Tremper at the 11 a. m. service. Lance H. Lasher will preside at both services. The lessons will be read by William Palen at 9:30 and Donald J. Sweeney at 11. Prayers will be led by Harry Hults at 9:30 and George E. Ballou at 11.

Morning Meditations

Morning Meditations are conducted by the Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association each Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday over WGHQ at 6:25 a. m. The speaker for next week will be the Rev. Osterhoudt Phillips, pastor of the Reformed Church at Shokan and Mt. Tremper.

Thayer to Speak At Trinity for Laymen's Service

Laymen's Day will be recognized by a special morning worship service led by lay members of the Trinity Methodist Church. Charles Shultis, lay leader of the Trinity parish, has been in charge of arranging this special program. Those assisting in the service will be Bruce Palen, Miss Adiska Conro, Harry Giles, lay speaker, George Lowe, local preacher, and Mrs. Robert King.

The morning message will be delivered by Harry Thayer on "I Plead Guilty—How About You?" Mr. Thayer is a member of the Trinity Official Board and active as a head usher and member of the membership and evangelism commission.

Mr. Thayer grew up in Napanook, where he graduated from the Ellenville School system and then attended Middlebury College in Vermont. He became general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles professional football team in 1941 and continued in that capacity until 1947 after which he became general manager of the Los Angeles Dons football team until 1950. Mr. Thayer returned to the Ellenville area as editor and publisher of the Ellenville Press from 1951 until 1959 when he became general manager of WGHQ.

He is currently serving as president of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health. Since returning to the Kingston area he has also taken an active role in many community activities and initiated numerous innovations in the field of radio broadcasting.

Laymen's Day is celebrated each year in the Trinity Parish in recognition of the devoted service given by all laymen and laywomen to the work of their Lord. All interested members of the community are invited to attend Sunday's special service of worship at 11 a. m.

Local Pastor Is To Attend 4-Day 'P-T-R' Mission

On Sunday, the Rev. Edwin C. Coon, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, will begin a four-day intensive Preaching-Teacher-Reaching Mission in the Trinity Reformed Church of Schenectady. Trained at Lansing, Ill., in May of 1961 with other missionaries, the Rev. Mr. Coon has completed two such missions to date: one in Kalamazoo, Mich., and the other in Newburgh. Under the auspices of the denomination's Board of North American Missions, the Department of Evangelism has trained some 60 pastors who are released by their consistory to direct organization in sister churches for the purpose of Evangelism.

The "P-T-R Mission" as it is popularly called, consists of five services of worship from Sunday through Wednesday, training sessions on evangelism and outreach for church leaders and Sunday school personnel, and four daily programs of outreach into the community by lay-visitor. Each mission sets into movement a new directed emphasis in the church on its responsibility to the community in which it is situated. All organizations of the church are directed to place primary emphasis on the work of evangelism as a result of the mission.

Other churches participating in a similar program in the Montgomery and Schenectady areas this coming week are: Thousand Island, Fort Plain, Canajoharie, Princetown and Second Rotterdam. Missioners are being brought in from New Brunswick, N. J.; Lansing, Ill.; Spring Valley, Gary, Ind.; and South Holland, Ill.; to direct the work and train the visitors of the local churches.

The Rev. Mr. Coon will return to his pulpit Sunday, Oct. 27.

Laymen to Conduct Marbletown Service

Laymen's Sunday will be observed Sunday at Marbletown Reformed Church in Stone Ridge, according to the minister, the Rev. Robert Clementz. Garton Wagar, Sunday school superintendent, will bring the message.

John Wilkie will conduct the service. Eugene Roosa will read the scripture lesson and Clarence Hance will lead in the responsive reading.

Donegan Selects New City Man as Budget Officer

The Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Bishop of New York, has appointed Edmund J. Beazley as his administrative assistant. He will also be chief budget officer and lay personnel director of the Diocese of New York, largest diocese in the Episcopal Church.

Mr. Beazley, of New City, will assume his duties Monday, Oct. 21. The position was authorized at the Diocesan Convention last May.

The new officer has been controller of the Gurran Oil Co., Stony Point, for the past five years. The firm is a distributor of Esso products.

A Certified Public Accountant, he was controller and later treasurer of Bright Star Industries, Clifton, N. J., flashlight and battery manufacturer. He has also been controller of Arco Welding and Machine Works, Jersey City, N. J.

Mr. Beazley is a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, New

Catholics Plan Annual Collection of Clothing

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, today announced the participation of the 401 Catholic parishes of the New York Archdiocese in the annual Thanksgiving Clothing Collection sponsored by the Catholic Bishops of the United States for the needy overseas. He appointed the Very Rev. Msgr. Frederick A. Nolan to direct the campaign known as "Operation Clothes Closet," for the archdiocese and named 46 priests as regional directors.

Regional directors of the drive in Ulster County include the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Daniel J. Shea, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Kingston, and dean of Ulster County; the Rev. John Cunningham, pastor of St. Mary's and St. Andrew's, Ellenville, and the Rev. Thomas P. Cahill, pastor of St. Augustine's, Highland.

The appeal will open Nov. 10 with the distribution of envelopes in all Catholic Churches, returnable Nov. 17 with money contributions. The collection of used clothing, shoes and blankets will take place the week of Nov. 17 to 24 with each parish organizing its own campaign. Volunteers will man collection centers.

Clothing donated will be sent to a processing warehouse in Brooklyn where it will be baled and shipped immediately by Catholic Relief Services to some 67 countries for distribution to refugees and native poor without regard to race, creed or color. In last year's appeal the New York Archdiocese contributed 1,043,902 pounds of clothing to the national total and raised $271,939 for food and drugs.

Comforter Hosts Classical Men's Rally on Sunday

A Classical Men's Rally will be held at the Church of the Comforter, Wynkoop Place, beginning at 2:30 p. m., Sunday, Oct. 20.

The rally will open with a hymn-sing led by Arthur Souers. Earle Winters, field secretary for the Particular Synod of New Jersey, will speak to the men about Brotherhood work in general and also about the forthcoming National convention to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, in November. The program for the rally will be presented by the Elmendorf Reformed Church Brotherhood, from East Harlem.

The rally will close with a light supper served by the Comforter Brotherhood. All the men of the Classis of Ulster are invited to attend.

Reservations should be made by contacting the Rev. Patrick R. Vostello, host pastor.

WHAT MAKES 'EM TICK?

Much has been written about that strange breed, the confirmed angler. His inclination to go out again and again, though he catch nothing more impressive than fingerlings, has evoked recurrent wonder. People want to know what makes him tick.

The same query might be posed concerning the hunter of such elusive game as grouse and pheasants. Like the confirmed angler, the confirmed bird hunter is not daunted by failure or meagre success. Weekend after weekend, he returns to the hunt.

On lucky days, this may involve nothing tougher than a lot of tramping through upland grasslands and scattered brush. More likely, it requires slogging through swamps, struggling in thickets interlaced with bull briar, huffing up steep gullies, vaulting fallen logs in the woods. Muscles unused the rest of the year make themselves felt, and at day's end the bag may be a small bird or two—or nothing.

Why does he do it? Why does the fisherman fish? These are tough questions for Congress to take up after it finishes with civil rights and the tax cut.

It is reported that people are eating more snacks all the time. One obvious reason is that regular dinners are becoming more irregular.

ELECTRONIC CUPID

At an Iowa State University dance the other night, 500 couples were paired off by a computer. These men and women students had answered 120 questions about themselves. The computer digested the answers and selected partners accordingly. A newsman reporting the event found that most of the dancers he talked with "liked the partners chosen for them by the computer."

This may put a gleam in the eye of matchmakers. They may envision great possibilities for computerized mating. Find the right questions, they may say, and there need be few matrimonial misfits in the future.

The trouble with this vision of an electronic cupid at work is that human beings are afflicted with human nature. If a computer tells John that Elsie would be the ideal mate for him but he has a non-electronic yen for Henrietta, don't bet on Elsie. Love is still too complicated for computers.

Senator Morse wants to ban aid to Latin American Countries ruled by juntas. The way things are going, that would sure cut down the aid bill.

BATTEN 'EM DOWN

In the old sailing days, when a storm brewed the cry would go out, "Batten down the hatches!" There is a parallel of sorts in the plight of the householder as fall rapidly moves toward that first cold, blustery day with a spit of snow in it.

Much more is involved than the simple task of covering the hatches. The householder is confronted with a whole cluster of tasks, and unless he does them in stages from weekend to weekend he's sure to wind up doing some with numb fingers.

So get those storm window frames put-tied and painted, fellow laborers. Clean out the garage and put it in order. Prepare to trim and cover the roses, check the roof, lay in firewood, oil the furnace blower.

KILLERS PINPOINTED

Tomorrow's doctors and medical research scientists will more and more direct their skills toward conquering the diseases of old age. Aside from accidents, the perils of childhood have simply been rendered statistically insignificant.

According to the Metropolitan Life In-

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
IN THE TIME OF BARGAINING

In January of 1959 Anastas Mikoyan, Khrushchev's "traveling salesman," looked Senator Hubert Humphrey in the eye and said, in response to a question about 63,000 Hungarians who had been taken from Budapest to labor in Kazakhstan: "We have no political prisoners in the Soviet Union." This bland denial echoed previous statements made by Khrushchev himself that "corrective" labor camps for political offenders had been abolished after the demise of Stalin, and that only "criminals" were being held in Soviet jails.

So, when the Rev. Walter M. Ciszek landed the other day at Idlewild Airport in New York as one of a couple of Americans who had been exchanged for two Communist spies, he made liars of both Mikoyan and Khrushchev. By any computation Father Ciszek remained a political prisoner even during the latter years of his detention in the Soviet Union when he was working as a locksmith. Moreover, on his own testimony he had been kept on at the penal camp of Norilsk, inside the Arctic Circle, for a period after Stalin's death—and this at the very time that Khrushchev was first protesting that the Stalin camps were things of the past.

The question of whether it is worth-while to take the word of any Communist dictator or high party functionary would hardly be a subject for debate if it were not for the gullibility of certain Americans who are quick to explain examples of Soviet malevolence as "accidents," or "out-of-line" zeal by irresponsible lower echelon officials. Adenauer knew what he was talking about when he snorted that it was "nonsense" to think that the recent Soviet roadblock of the corridor to West Berlin was a lower echelon "mistake."

The truth, if it were to be pursued, would certainly turn up example after example of continuing political incarceration and detention in every Iron Curtain land. Just to take one instance, there is the case of Istvan Som, a Hungarian schoolteacher who may be dying of a breakdown in one of Dictator Kadar's jails in Hungary despite the recent news from Budapest about a widespread "amnesty." Som was originally jailed in 1948 for trying to persuade some peasants to cut the telephone wires in order to stall off the arrival of Soviet troops during a disturbance which had resulted in the accidental death of a policeman in the village of Pocsopetri. The accident was not of Som's making; he was merely worried, as a bystander, that his whole village would be slaughtered by the Russians. Released in 1955 by Premier Imre Nagy, Som was later rearrested and imprisoned by the Kadar regime. The Swiss papers have been full of requests in recent weeks for the transfer of Som to a sanitarium in Davos in time to save his life.

How many American Istvan Soms are there in Iron Curtain camps, jails and detention areas? There is no way of knowing, but the U. S. State Department obviously does not believe in ruffling Khrushchev's or Mao Tse-tung's feathers in an effort to find out. When mothers of Korean War prisoners who disappeared into Manchuria try to get answers to their questions, they are told that they had "better believe" that their sons are dead. This may be a gentle way of trying to let bereaved people down, but it is fiercely resented by such parents as Mrs. Rita Van Wees of New York City when the "writing off" of 4,000 unaccounted-for prisoners is accompanied by sales of wheat to Khrushchev. As a member of an organization called the Fighting Homefolks of Fighting Men, Mrs. Van Wees thinks that when Secretary of State Rusk talks about the desirability of a "free flow" of information between Russia and the U. S., it should be understood that some details about "lost" U. S. captive troops be part of the "flow."

Tito, who is now welcome to visit in Washington, has indicated that his most celebrated political prisoner, Milovan Djilas, author of such eye-opening books on Communist society as "The New Class," will soon be released. The way is evidently opening to a "softening" of many of the iron regimes of Eastern Europe as well as of the Khrushchev regime in Russia. But this is not the time for the United States to soften up on its own demands for political payment in addition to economic payment when it trades wheat and consumer goods to Iron Curtain countries. The only reason the dictators are "softening" is that they are in dire trouble. Now is the time to get something that is humanly as well as economically valuable when we drive our bargains. The Mature Parent

Decadence Can Be 'Fun'
By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"The 'fun' ethic is the root of the adolescent problem at home and in school," I was recently told by Fred M. Hechinger, New York Times education editor and author of the widely discussed book "Teen-age Tyranny." "The notion that all struggle should be removed from children's experience must be the first to go if we are to get them back on the track."

I agree with him. But remove the "fun" fraud from children's lives? How can we? Don't we live by it ourselves?

Certainly, many teen-agers indulge in precocious sexual activity. But what about their elders who "buy now and pay later" for the fun they want—the vacations, cruises, transistor radios? Isn't this the land of the credit card—the deferred bill? Who among us grownups is willing to postpone gratification until we've paid for it? Sure, this is the country where teachers teach children that work is order by saying, "O.K., you've had your fun now. Let's get back to work." But isn't this also the country of the time clock, the coffee break? Do we parents go to work with joy in the opportunity to use our energies productively? Or do we have to be hounded to it? Given our playtimes?

Unquestionably, schools have created a whole philosophy to spare children dull drill in phonic preparation for reading. But how about our devotion to "labor-saving" devices? Who among us personally strains baby's vegetables? Aren't our gadgets here to spare us dullness, too? What about our washing machines, the buttons that spare us the exertion of getting up and turning the television dial?

Undoubtedly, the teen-ager dares not differ himself from his "crowd," dares not wear clothes or serve snacks other teen-agers don't wear or serve. But don't our child guidance "experts" tell us to get the support of other parents before we rule against school night parties?

What parent among us dares stand up for his own convictions without HIS "crowd" behind him?

It will take a powerful lot of uprooting to uproot the "fun" ethic from the lives of Americans. I wonder what the Founding Fathers would think of the "fun" ethic in operation. It bears little resemblance, I'm afraid, to the "pursuit of happiness" they had in mind on July 4, 1776. (All rights reserved, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

insurance Co., if all deaths in the first 25 years of life could be prevented, the expectancy of life at birth for the general population would be increased only three years.

In fact, if nobody—repeat, nobody—died before the age of 50, the average lifetime would rise by only 5½ years, or only one-fourth the gain made since 1900.

The statisticians conclude that further progress in longevity will depend largely on cutting deaths from the chronic and degenerative diseases.

"The Trouble Is, Doc, I Can't Tell Whether It's a Nightmare or a Premonition"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The gag in Washington now is that the United States may have to work out a nonaggression pact and a disarmament agreement with the Russians because it's impossible to get agreement with America's North Atlantic Treaty allies on the defense of Europe against Russian attack.

But the Kennedy administration is making still another try at getting NATO to accept the multilateral force — MLF — concept for the nuclear defense of western Europe.

Most notable thing about talks on this just resumed in Washington and Paris is that the French are not taking part. British, German, Dutch, Greek and Turkish representatives are sitting in. President De Gaulle wants none of it.

The Paris talks are political and financial, between permanent mission representatives to the NATO council. Ambassador Thomas K. Finletter is U. S. spokesman. The Washington talks are technical and strategic, among military experts at the Pentagon.

FRENCH ABSENCE IS HIGHLIGHTED by announcement from Paris that France now has its own nuclear striking force. It is small compared to the British force and infinitesimal compared to the American. The French have only plutonium — not hydrogen bombs. And no one is sure just how operational are the six Mirage IV bombers supposed to deliver them.

This new French nuclear "force de frappe" is — therefore characterized as being able to start a war but not finish it. That is its danger to the peace of the world.

It is a sop to De Gaulle's ambitions for an independent atomic capability. It gives him a further excuse to stay out of a European MLF under NATO.

De Gaulle's possession of this force is not expected to change the U. S. bargaining position on MLF. But it might influence the thinking of other NATO allies.

AS A RESULT OF THE NUCLEAR TEST BAN treaty with Russia there is said to be a general atmosphere of relaxation in Europe. Also, MLF is going to cost a lot of money which some countries don't have and none wants to spend. And there is considerable political instability in the air.

Dr. Konrad Adenauer has just resigned in Germany. New Chancellor Ludwig Erhard still has to state his policies, though he is expected to continue reliance on American nuclear protection, rather than French. The British Conservative party is changing leaders following resignation of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. British elections are likely in early 1964.

If the Labor party wins, its leader Harold Wilson has said he would "de-negotiate" the Nassau agreement to accept U. S. Polaris missiles for the defense of Britain.

The present Italian government favors the MLF idea and wants in. But if a more leftist coalition takes over government, this policy might be changed. Greece and Turkey want in for prestige but could not pay their way.

The Kennedy administration wants to push the MLF plan for its own prestige reasons. Whether anything concrete will be ready for presentation to the NATO Council of Ministers in Paris first week in December is doubtful.

MLF WAS ORIGINALLY CONCEIVED by the Eisenhower administration, not only to strengthen Europe's defenses but also to improve the U. S. balance of payments position.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter at the December 1960 NATO council meeting offered to sell Europe five nuclear submarines with Polaris missiles.

At the Oslo council meeting in May 1961 Secretary of State Dean Rusk announced the Kennedy administration would follow through. He asked the European countries to prepare their own plan. They were never able to agree.

Subsequently the Pentagon revised the plan to put Polaris missiles on surface vessels manned by multinational crews. This is still the favored plan.

The hope is that if it can ever be submitted to the NATO council, France will not veto it under the unanimous approval requirement but will abstain from voting. This would allow other European countries to go ahead with it.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Capt. Yank Albrecht, of 74 West Union Street, who had spent some 43 years in the service of the Kingston paid fire department, now retired, brought me a very interesting book. It is a bound copy of magazines called "Poughkeepsie Caske!" put out in the 1840's. It seems, Yank's son, Edward Albrecht, also a member of the Kingston fire department for some 18 years found this book, and it was thus brought to be shown to me. It is carefully covered with a piece of printed cotton material. All this long before the days of radio, TV, even commercial photography, yet there are interesting pictures in this book. I see one of Shakespeare, after the Chandos portrait, which is sewn by hand on a page.

I found another picture sewed to the page by hand of the Kaiser's father, the late Frederick Ludwig William in a decorated helmet. The magazine was a "semi-monthly literary journal, devoted exclusively to the different branches of polite literature." The editors were J. H. Selreg and J. H. Wiggins. They add: "We shall occasionally embellish our publication with engravings, and should the encouragement given warrant it, will accompany each quarterly number with a large stereotype representation of the manions of all the Presidents of the United States up to the present time." In this copy they have in the front the residence of Thomas Jefferson, Monticello, Va., with descriptions. This magazine of Poughkeepsie in 1840 was to cover: Literature, science and the arts; historical and biographical sketches; moral and humorous tales; essays, poetry and miscellaneous reading," which proves what the folks of the Hudson valley were reading some 120 years ago.

I see a coverage of Napoleon Bonaparte, in which they start the item with: "Among all the prodigies of human genius which have of late appeared like meteors in the horizon, and sunk again to rest, Napoleon stands foremost . . ." There is an excellent picture of the Dutchess County Academy, which was "located in the year 1836, at an expense of about $14,000. It is situated aside from the bustle of business in the village. The school and recitation rooms, being all in the second story, secure to them that ease of ventilation so necessary to health and comfort. Since the academy has been under the care of the present principal, the number of pupils has been about one hundred."

The description of May 30, 1840 of the Dutchess County Academy further reads: "The institution prepared young men for college, teachers for common schools, clerks for the county houses, or any of the active pursuits of life." They have five teachers. Their "plan of discipline" was intended to elevate the moral feelings and fix in the mind and heart those relations that exist in the family, and all well regulated communities. "Corporal punishment is but seldom inflicted on the boarding scholars are at all times under the immediate care of the principal, who feels responsible, not only for their progress in study, but for the formation of proper habits at that age, which of all others, impose the highest responsibility on parents and teachers."

Now in the midst of our turmoil of 1963 in the Kingston Consolidated School system, with transportation problems, food problems and every other problem which seems to bring discontent to pupil, teacher, parent and taxpayer, I thought the above may be interesting.

National Newspaper Week

Editors, The Freeman
I wish to take note and make comment that this week is National Newspaper Week. A free press is the very cornerstone of our Freedom. It is as dear to us as freedom of religion and speech. How fortunate we are that our founding fathers secured these rights for us by virtue of the very first amendment to the Constitution. In this manner they effectively implemented and guaranteed those purposes set forth in the preamble to our Constitution namely, to secure the blessing of liberty to ourselves and our posterity.

Free men are the natural by-product of a free and informed press. Where the press is controlled so are men and their minds.

Many people missed the New York City papers during the recent strike. If a press is missed at a time like that, think how much more freedom—freedom of the press would be missed if we did not enjoy it.

I wish to specifically thank the Kingston Daily Freeman for its fair coverage of the issues during this current election campaign to date. I am certain that it is because the Kingston Daily Freeman fully understands that together with freedom of the press there is the obligation of that press to follow and fairly make available to all free men all sides of every issue.

For this, win lose or draw in this election, I salute you.

Sincerely
FRANK C. SASS

Timely Quotes

This has been an interesting decade on the U. S. Supreme Court. The years have been challenging and I hardly need tell you, they have been controversial. However, it is not the court that has made them controversial — it is the times in which we are living.

Film Is Planned Saturday Night For YFC Rally

A dramatic film entitled, Raised From the Dead, will be shown at the Kingston Area Youth For Christ Rally Saturday, Oct. 19 at 7:30 p. m., at the Bethel Assembly of God Church, Esopus Avenue.

This film is a true story of three young men—each one an addict of a different sort. One an alcoholic, another a pill addict and the third a confirmed dope addict.

The story is based on true incidents from the lives of each boy. The actions begin in New York City's Bowery where Santos, a teenage alcoholic is on the brink of becoming a permanent resident among the derelicts.

The film shows Fernando as he makes his connections for his pills—called "goof-balls," and from jail will follow Louis as he fights a losing battle against his heroin cravings.

The Rev. Don Wilkerson, evangelism director of the Teen Challenge Center, New York, also is featured in the film and includes on the spot testimonies of the Teen Team.

As evangelism director of Teen Challenge, the Rev. Mr. Wilkerson directs a team of staff members into drug and gang infested areas of New York to give them the message of the Gospel of Christ. A simple but sincere approach is made to teenagers on the street corner, at their hangouts, and many other places.

This teenage rally, to which all are invited, especially adults interested in the problems of today's teens, is sponsored by Hudson Valley Youth for Christ, Tom Lint, director.

Teen Challenge Director to Talk At Bethel Church

The Rev. Donald Wilkerson of New York City will speak Sunday, Oct. 20 at the 11 a. m. worship service at the Bethel Assembly of God.

The Rev. Mr. Wilkerson is evangelism director at the Teen Challenge Center in Brooklyn.

Teen Challenge is a youth organization working among adolescent drug addicts, gang members and other youth in the New York City area. In connection with the Brooklyn Center there is also a training center maintained in Pennsylvania where a religious and vocational rehabilitation program is given to these young men.

He began his preaching ministry at the age of 16. He is a graduate of North East Bible College in Green Lane, Pa. His brother, the Rev. David Wilkerson, is director and founder of Teen Challenge and the author of a recent book entitled, The Cross and the Switchblade. The Rev. Donald Wilkerson has been engaged in this work for two years.

As evangelism director of the Teen Challenge Center, the Rev. Mr. Wilkerson directs a team of workers into drug and gang infested areas of New York to give them the message of the Gospel of Christ. A simple but sincere approach is made to teenagers on the street at their hangouts and many other places.

The Rev. Mr. Wilkerson will relate incidents from his ministry among these young people and will tell of the unusual cure administered to drug addicts.

The Rev. Robert R. Vinson invites the public to attend the services.

Anglo Head Advocate of Firm Policy Toward Reds

Home No Political Amateur Despite His Lack of In-Fighting Experience

LONDON (AP)—Lord Home, named Friday to succeed Harold Macmillan as Britain's prime Minister, is a lean, 60-year-old Scottish aristocrat whose name most people mispronounce.

Three years ago the 14th Earl of Home emerged from comparative political obscurity to become foreign secretary. The appointment astonished both Conservatives and opposition Laborites.

Even today he has been so little in the public eye that most Britons are unaware that this Home rhymes with "fume."

Health One Factor
But those three years of high office have established Lord Home in Macmillan's mind as a man of real ability—firm, lucid and independent.

One doubt about him is his health. During World War II he spent two years in a plaster cast with tuberculosis of the spine.

NEW PALTZ — Robert Bassik, 41, of Center Beach, L. I., has been named elementary principal for the New Duzine Elementary School, to succeed Joseph Van Aiken, who submitted his resignation during the summer. Appointment of Bassik to fill the vacancy was made at a special meeting of the New Paltz Central School Board of Education Monday night.

Bassik was selected from a group of 40 applicants after very careful screening by a special committee of the Board of Education. From the entire group of applicants seven were selected to be interviewed on the basis of their papers and recommendations. Of the seven selected, two who were felt to be outstanding were chosen as finalists. These were observed in their own school by Frederick C. Dippel, supervising principal, and a member of the screening committee. They were then asked to appear before the entire board on Monday evening. At the close of this meeting Mr. Bassik was unanimously chosen.

Mr. Bassik is currently employed by the Plainville, Long Island Board of Education where he has served an administrative internship and is the coordinator for their sixth grades, all thirty one of which are housed in their junior high school building. He has been very active at Plainville in work on curriculum and has been responsible for the administration of their audio-visual program. During the summer he has been in charge of a summer program for Syosset, Long Island, where he has had full responsibility for the administration and supervision of 60 employees and 500 children.

He is married and is the father of two children, Irene, 6, and Morris, 3. He will begin his duties at New Paltz after a period of 30 days notice which he is required by law to give to his present employers.

Volunteer fire companies of the county and auxiliaries, and other organizations are urged to send representatives to the meeting to assist in planning the drive scheduled for Nov. 17.

Africa's Latter Rain Cult Uses Sackcloth, Ashes

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Sackcloth and ashes figure prominently in the ritual of South Africa's Latter Rain Assemblies.

This religious institution has its headquarters at Jantiel near Benoni, a gold mining town 20 miles east of Johannesburg.

The 200 men and women members at Jantiel live a communal life on 13 acres of land.

They pray at regular intervals throughout the day, kneeling on sackcloth. Praying begins at four in the morning. On special occasions they place a sack covered with ashes over their shoulders. They always take off their shoes before entering the church. They sing and clap hands and pray before each meal.

Every time the community has to make an important decision the members read texts from the Bible to help them make up their minds.

The head of Jantiel is a Mara Fraser, 75, who is said to have had a vision of what God required her to do while traveling on a train. Friends say she was an atheist who was "saved" in 1922. She then joined the Pentecostal movement, but left it to found the Latter Rain Assemblies in 1929.

Few visitors are permitted to see Sister Fraser. The institution's spokesman is its deputy head Brother Martinus Scheepers, who looks like a burly farmer. He enjoys showing visitors around the community's handsome buildings, many of them two-story, and the well-planned orderly gardens filled with flowers.

Most of the church members are Afrikaans-speaking, but there are also Germans and Hollanders. Women members wear blue dresses and blue veils. The men wear khaki clothing.

None of them smokes or drinks.

"Latter Rain" refers to a prophecy in Joel 2—"He will cause to come down the former rain and the latter rain." The community regards the latter rain as the rain at the end of the season which ripens the crop—according to their belief, the second coming of Christ.

Sisterhood Dinner Draws Capacity Attendance This Week

The annual paid-up membership supper of Sister Ahavath Israel was held on Wednesday, Oct. 16 in the vestry hall. A dinner prepared by the Mmes. Alfred Horowitz, Carl Lipton, Julius Lipton, George Mueller, David Seigal, and Isidore Werbalowsky was served to more than 80 members. Others contributing to the success of the evening were the Mmes. Paul Johnson, Martin Katz, Martin Netburn, and Herman Rafalowsky who served as waitresses, and the Mmes. Irving Reuben and Harry Spiegel who worked in the kitchen. Mrs. David Seigal and Mrs. Seymour Semilof arranged the floral decorations. Special thanks were given to Mrs. Horowitz and Mrs. Arthur Schiff for their special help.

Mrs. Joseph Hilsenrath was welcomed as a new member. The program for the evening was a dramatic reading "Antony of a Member," written by Dorothy Brookman Silverman. The play describes the various functions of a Sisterhood and the workings of the National Women's League. The Mmes. Harris Gally, Mel Kelman, Jacob Rubenstein, Seymour Semilof and George Small were included in the cast. Mrs. Sanford Gossett was pianist.

Mrs. Carl Lipton, president, announced the following planned activities. On Tuesday evening, Oct. 22 the donor committee will meet at the home of Mrs. Seymour Semilof to plan a luncheon on May 19. Serving on the committee will be the Mmes. Max Eckdich, Sanford Gossett, George Jacobson, Lewis Kirschner, Carl Lipton, and Sidney Trinkman.

On Monday, Oct. 28, classes in beginning Hebrew will resume under the leadership of Mrs. Lora Saluc. The class will meet every Monday afternoon at the Jewish Community Center. Those interested in enrolling should contact Mrs. Saluc.

MRS. DOUGLAS STEWART JACK (Reynolds photo)

Downs-Jack Wedding Takes Place at St. John's Episcopal Church Oct. 12

Miss Carol Herman Downs, Boston, Mass., exchanged marriage vows with Douglas Stewart Jack, also of Boston, on Saturday, Oct. 12 at 2 p. m. in St. John's Episcopal Church, this city. Officiating was the Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger. W. William Smith was the organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Downs of Kerkonkson. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland S. Jack of West Springfield, Mass.

Mr. Downs gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a white peau de soie sheath gown with Alencon lace bodice and overskirt. She wore a chapel length train and a "bustle" veil with peau de soie. She carried a bridal ring decorated with white cymbidium orchids.

Miss Shirley Downs, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. A student at Skidmore College, she wore a floor length willow green satin gown with Empire lines, scooped neckline and elbow length sleeves. She carried a hand bouquet of Tokay grapes and pink Fuji mums. Other bridesmaids were the Misses Gemma Gar Canneau of West Hartford, Conn., Patricia Owens, Boston, Mass., Linda Brandt, New York City, and Dana Feldshuh of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Their gowns and bouquets were similar to that worn by the honor attendant. All wore empire Josephine hair styles entwined with green satin headbands.

Miss Candace Suddaby, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl in a matching floor length dress of green satin. She carried a bridal hoop of pink pompons and Fuji mums.

John Mason, fraternity brother from Bloomfield, Conn., was best man for the bridegroom. Usher were Richard Maxwell, Darien, Conn., John Galanek, Westfield, Mass., Peter Channell, Providence, R. I., Gregory Downs, Kerkonkson, and Christopher Downs, also of Kerkonkson. The latter two ushers are brothers of the bride.

A reception was given for 250 guests at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Afterwards the couple left for Puerto Rico and the Isle of St. Thomas, British West Indies.

Mrs. Jack was graduated from Oakwood School, Poughkeepsie and Mount Holyoke College where she received her AB. She is associated with Richard Montgomery Mason, Inc., advertising agency in Boston. Her husband is an alumnus of Mount Hermon School, Mt. Hermon, Mass., and Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn. He has an AB degree and is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack will be at home at 67 Pinckney Street, Beacon Hill, Boston, Mass.

Convention Delegates

Four area residents will attend the Mobil dealer convention at the Concord Hotel, Kiamasha Lake, Oct. 30 and Nov. 1. They are Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Galizia, 250 Broadway, Port Ewen, and Mr. and Mrs. Burton O. Giles, 100 Boulevard, city. More than 1,000 Mobil dealers and their wives from the eastern area of the country are expected to attend. Herbert Willett, president of Secony Mobil Oil Co., Inc., will be guest speaker.

League of Sacred Heart

There will be a meeting of the promoters of the League of the Sacred Heart of St. Mary's Parish on Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the school meeting room. All members are requested to attend.

Children Learn How To Care for Pets At Nursery School

Enjoying and caring for pets is just one of the many activities of approximately 80 youngsters enrolled at the Fair Street Nursery School, a non-profit, non-sectarian pre-school located in the new Educational Building of the Fair Street Reformed Church.

Licensed and approved by the New York State Education Department, the Fair Street Nursery School provides an unusual opportunity for children three through five years of age to develop emotionally and intellectually. In a lay-out designed especially for the Fair Street Nursery School, the children paint, build with blocks, play house, climb, experiment with materials and ideas, converse, enjoy books and make friends. Other beneficial activities include field trips to ranches, apple orchards, dairy farms — even firehouses.

The children receive the benefit of friendly and skilled guidance in a child-sized world.

Fair Street Nursery School has four classes daily including two morning classes and two afternoon groups. The school calendar follows that of the Kingston Consolidated schools. Tuition is moderate, particularly so if a parent can cooperate by assisting at one school session every two weeks. Although registration is close to capacity, the school could accept a limited number of registrations at this time.

PAYING LADIES' CHECK IN RESTAURANT

Q: As I entered a restaurant the other day to have my lunch, I spotted two women friends seated at a table. I went over to say "hello" to them and they asked me to join them. They had already ordered their lunch and were waiting to be served. When the waiter brought the check he put it at my place and had all three lunches on the one check. They offered to pay their share of it but as I was embarrassed to take money from them, I paid the whole check myself and as a result I had to eat very sparingly for the rest of the week. What does a man do in a situation of this kind? Was I obliged to pay for their lunches or would it have been proper to let them pay their own share of the check?

A: As you did not invite them to lunch, it would have been quite proper to let them pay their share of the check.

Leaving Theater Seats

Q: When leaving seats in a theater, does a man lift up his seat and stand against it to let a woman companion pass in front of him and go out of the row ahead of him, or does he go out first and she follow him?

A: He goes out of the row first and waits momentarily in the aisle for her to join him and both walk out together.

Children Learn How To Care for Pets At Nursery School

Enjoying and caring for pets is just one of the many activities of approximately 80 youngsters enrolled at the Fair Street Nursery School, a non-profit, non-sectarian pre-school located in the new Educational Building of the Fair Street Reformed Church.

Licensed and approved by the New York State Education Department, the Fair Street Nursery School provides an unusual opportunity for children three through five years of age to develop emotionally and intellectually. In a lay-out designed especially for the Fair Street Nursery School, the children paint, build with blocks, play house, climb, experiment with materials and ideas, converse, enjoy books and make friends. Other beneficial activities include field trips to ranches, apple orchards, dairy farms — even firehouses.

The children receive the benefit of friendly and skilled guidance in a child-sized world.

Fair Street Nursery School has four classes daily including two morning classes and two afternoon groups. The school calendar follows that of the Kingston Consolidated schools. Tuition is moderate, particularly so if a parent can cooperate by assisting at one school session every two weeks. Although registration is close to capacity, the school could accept a limited number of registrations at this time.

Care and Common Sense Emphasized As Hunting Rules

The first aim of hunters should be to come home safely, the American Red Cross said today.

"Each year," said Daniel H. Morehouse, Ulster County Red Cross chapter's first aid chairman, "guns and explosives cause around 2,300 deaths and innumerable injuries. This death and injury toll would be cut greatly if hunters and other gun owners would remember — and use — two simple hunting safety rules: care and common sense."

Morehouse expanded upon these two basic rules by offering the following tips for safe gun handling: Treat every gun as if it were loaded. Avoid all horseplay with guns. Don't point one at anything you don't intend to shoot. While traveling in cars, boats or planes, make sure your guns are unloaded and keep them cased, wrapped or dismantled. In the field, hunt with a companion but insist he abide by the safety rules. Be sure your ammunition fits your gun. Double check — frequently — to make sure the safety is on. Don't climb fences, run or jump while carrying a loaded gun. In rough terrain where your footing is precarious or in open brush, unload the gun or open its action. Keep your fingers away from the trigger until you're ready to shoot. Don't use your gun as a prop or prod.

If, despite all your precautions, someone is wounded while hunting, Morehouse said, these are the first aid measures you should take:

Control of bleeding, protect the wound from contamination and give the victim care against shock.

Even if the surface wound is small, there still may be extensive internal injuries such as fractures and damage to blood vessels and nerves. Summon a physician as soon as possible, preferably without moving the victim.

"Finally," Morehouse concluded, "just as your first aim as a hunter should be to come home safely, so should you aim to keep your home safe."

"Make certain your guns are unloaded and store them in a locked case or cabinet, well up out of the reach of children. Store ammunition in a separate locked place."

14th Year Finds Red Skelton as Happiest Ever

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The television world is supposed to be fierce and frantic, a spawner of ulcers and nervous breakdowns. So how come Red Skelton is so happy?

The raucous redhead is starting his 14th year in television, his second season with a full hour, and he's never been so content. The reason is that he has discovered a way of life that suits him.

Home Five Days

Red has joined the Hollywood celebrities who live in Palm Springs. He spends five days a week at his desert home, comes to town on Wednesday and Thursday to rehearse and tape his show.

"As soon as I get to the Los Angeles city limits and see the wall of smog," said he, "I shut off my lungs."

Desert air breathes better for many reasons, he said.

"Living down there gets me away from the telephone and all the other distractions," Red remarked. "We can live as a family and have dinner together; Valentina can have her friends in."

"It's a healthy life. Little Red (wife Georgia) and I are up at dawn and busy all day. I'm now at 190 pounds, down from 229, and Little Red, who was 160, is now at 120."

Adds Hobby Each Year

"I do my work there. I come to the studio with a notebook full of gags. And I have my hobbies, adding a new one each year. This year I've gone in for gardening."

"We don't entertain, but most people in show business don't. Yet I see all my friends. We live right on the Tamarisk golf course and I see everyone I've worked with go by. We have a nice visit, then they have to move on with their game."

Red's on an eight-hour workweek that is. He figures that's the elapsed time it takes him to get together his hour show.

What does Red receive for his eight-hour week? Nobody is saying, but name a fantastic sum, and his pay is probably higher.

Build Japanese Stone Lantern

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There is no better time than fall to plan those home improvements that you couldn't quite budget this summer—swimming pool, greenhouse or whatever. If you wait until spring, you may wind up with the fisherman's excuse, "I shoulda been here yesterday."

Small projects can be done through fall and winter, and some homeowners have already begun to turn their laths and use their cement mixers.

Homeowner Donald Scribner of Cannondale, Conn., yearned for a Japanese stone lantern such as those he'd seen in summer gardens. "These made in the United States were as beyond its means as imported lanterns. So he decided to make one now, instead of waiting until next summer. It cost less than $2 and his rugged do-it-yourself lantern resembles some of the ancient lamps more than some expensive reproductions. As he points out, it's the idea that counts, so one can make the lanterns to suit his own taste, and available molds.

There are many types of stone lanterns used by the Japanese at their little water spots and along garden paths to light the way. One can make the lantern for decorative purposes in a garden, or it can pinpoint a path, if a candle is inserted.

You can make it in any number of sections, but usually it is a stone lantern placed on a pedestal of stone. The top of the lantern is shaped like a mushroom with a knob on top.

The formula for Scribner's first lantern is simple.

He combined one-half bag of cement and 20 shovels of sand with water until the right consistency was achieved.

He cut two windows about 4 inches square in a tar can that measured 18 inches high and about a foot in diameter. He inserted two blocks into the windows, so that when cement was poured into the can, windows were formed.

He poured cement into an old small dishpan about 18 inches in diameter on the large side. (This would give him a mushroom shape, slightly larger than the cylinder when inverted.)

He filled an 18-inch-square wooden box about 2 inches in depth with cement to form the base of the pedestal. A smooth rock was found to be placed on top of the "mushroom," but a knob-like finial could be made by pouring cement into a small, flat, slightly rounded shape about the side of an individual pudding mold.

Cement was poured to the top of the containers and leveled off. A long file was used for the small amount of prodding needed to get the forms out of their containers.

"Anyone giving up this idea thought come up with a series of containers to serve them better than these things that I just happened to have in my garage," Scribner explains. "If I had anticipated success on the first try, I'd have spent more time in fumbling molds."

Actually while Scribner put the windows in the cylinder, the Japanese might have a small foot-square windowed lantern: placed between the mushroom shape top and the cylinder and flat base that form the pedestal. But there are many variations of the lanterns, in all sizes and shapes, so the molds will predict the design.

These lanterns are practical and contribute to tranquility and charm outdoors. The cement could be colored for Americanizing these ancient lights.

Extending Tile

A new trend in quality home construction is extension of ceramic tile bathroom wainscoting several inches higher than has been customary—or, in many cases, all the way to the ceiling. The two principal reasons for this: First, ceramic tile is steamproof as well as waterproof. Steam from showers and baths can cause paint and other materials to deteriorate, but can't hurt real tile. Second, the 250 different colors, the many sizes and shapes, inspire handsome bathroom design.

Paint Brush Preservation

Your paint brushes will have a longer life of satisfactory performance if you follow a few helpful hints in caring for them. First, be sure to clean the brush thoroughly after completing a paint job. If you soak your brush in a solvent for any length of time, be sure to dry it by its handle. Let it dry in the same manner, suspended by the handle. Brushes may be stored by laying them flat or by suspending them by the handles.

Take Them Off

Did you ever carefully cover the hardware on a door you were painting, only to find at the end that paint had gotten on it anyway? If you remove the hardware on doors and windows before you paint, you'll save yourself the worry of a possible extra clean up job afterward. And, they'll be easier and handier to clean and polish until the metal looks like new!

Introduced today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, "The Murphy" is a comfortable, one-story house designed for the family that needs three bedrooms.

Although the house pictured above has a two-car garage this home can be built with a one-car garage—or without any garage at all—if you prefer. Including the two-car garage overall measurements are 71 by 36 feet. Cubage of the house itself is 28,200 feet; cubage of the garage is 6,600 feet. You'll need at least a 95-foot lot to build the house as illustrated. With a one-car garage—or no garage at all—you can, of course, get by with a smaller lot.

Although it is small in size the kitchen is large enough to hold all the essential pieces of kitchen equipment including an array of cabinets, cupboards and counter space. No breakfast nook is provided in this plan but the dining room is so conveniently near that you'll find it no hardship to serve all of your meals in this room.

A small entry way separates the good-sized living room from the front door—and helps to keep drafts from the living room. A fireplace and bookshelves are specified for the living room which is designed to be a comfortable room in which family and friends can gather.

Two of the bedrooms are located in the right wing of the house; the third opens off the central hallway in back of the living room. All of the bedrooms feature good lighting and cross ventilation. Each also has a large closet.

In addition to the regular bathroom—located near the bedrooms—there is a handy lavatory which opens off the kitchen near the side entrance. Thus located, the lavatory makes an ideal clean-up station for the youngsters when they come in from play.

Considering the convenient location of the dining room and

Five Rules Guide Work on Homes

When you fix up your home or build a closet or other convenience, you should be looking for five things: Economy, ease of installation, good appearance, durability and simple maintenance.

Today's hardboards meet these qualifications, according to John Concord, housing expert for Masonite Corporation. He explained:

Use Ordinary Tools

Either the home owner or a carpenter finds it easy to saw, drill, nail and otherwise work with hardboards with common tools. Panels that are four feet wide and seven or eight feet long handle easily. Joints are hidden. Put them up over old walls or studs.

Even though they're low in cost, they have the appearance of top woodgrains, of which they are high fidelity reproductions. Thousands of families are pleased with them.

Defies Hail Storms

Hardboards have great durability. Masonite Corporation makes a point of proving this by the "hammer test" on its exterior sidings. Bumps by toys, hail storms, being hit by a baseball and other abuses don't faze these hardboards.

Factory-finished hardboards are maintained by occasional damp-wiping. Common household stains wipe off readily. If you paint, you'll find the unfinished hardboard takes and holds paint longer than other materials. There'll be more years between paint jobs.

Quarry Tile Use Expands

Quarry tile has always been a favorite for weatherproof terraces. In recent years it has found new uses. It has been specified more for interior areas—entranceways, kitchen and living room floors, family game rooms and bathroom floors. All these are areas where a really rugged yet good looking material is wanted. Besides red, quarry now comes in dark brown, buff, blue, green and sand colors.

Exterior Trim Paints

Exterior trim paints are used principally on wood trim, screen frames, shutters and other small areas of the home. Dark, medium and light greens are among the most popular colors. Good leveling or freedom from brush marks, rapid drying, high gloss, good color and gloss retention, one-coat hiding, and good durability are important properties of exterior trim paints.

Tarnish on Varnishing

Varnish is best applied with a good quality bristle brush, suggests the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association. Do not stir varnish because this may cause air bubbles. When using a brush, never dip it into the varnish by more than one-third its length, and always flow on liberally with a minimum number of brush strokes.

The identity of the first burned clay product is unknown. Which came first, burned brick or fired pottery, has never been determined.

The plate from which a piece of U.S. paper money is printed is not made by one man. At the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, one engraver makes the portrait, another does the denominational numbers, and so forth. Since each engraver is a master at his particular type of work, the finished plate represents the very finest example of the engraving art, far beyond the ability of a counterfeiter to reproduce.

Include Storage Area in Plan for Recreation Room

A good place for a central storage area to accommodate the family's out-of-season clothes is in the recreation room, where sufficient space usually is available.

To provide a moth-repellent area for these valuable items, line the closet with aromatic red cedar. The cedar fragrance paralyzes and kills moths, thus protecting expensive furs and woolen garments.

Lining a closet with red cedar is easy enough so that one man who can handle a hammer and saw should be able to finish the project over a weekend.

Cedar closet lining is available at most lumber yards in pre-packaged bundles, which contain enough piece to cover at least 32 square feet. The pieces are tongue and grooved on the ends and sides to simplify fitting.

The cedar strips are applied by nailing them to the wall studs. Run them horizontally across the walls and ceiling. Since the cedar strips are tongue and grooved, short pieces can be end-joined at any point to save time and material.

Locate the studs by tapping the wall with a hammer, or use a stud finder. To make sure of the location, drive a nail into the wall. Studs usually are spaced 16" apart. All nailing should be to studs.

After the cedar lining has been applied, trim the closet with quarter round cedar molding. Special cedar shelving also is available.

Space-saving hangers and fixtures can be attached easily anywhere on the continuous wood surface of a cedar closet. A cedar closet does not require any finishing. An occasional dusting is the only maintenance needed.

Handyman Can Use Statistics

Research can help the do-it-yourself.

In fact, if you're planning to build another close in the family room or attic, here are some guidelines developed by home planners.

The minimum depth recommended for storage units in which the rod for the hangers runs parallel with the opening is 24 inches. This was determined by noting that garments on hangers, even heavy coats, hung at right angles to the closet opening, can be accommodated in a closet 24 inches deep.

The width of a closet depends on individual needs. A closet should provide at least 48 inches of hanger bar space.

Studies show that the rod should be about 63" off the floor in a closet to be used for adult clothing; about 45" high for clothing of 6 to 12 year old children.

To make a new closet safe from moths, line it with aromatic red cedar. The natural fragrance of this distinctive wood is pleasant to humans, but "death" to moths.

Cedar closet lining can be applied right over old walls or new framing. It has tongue and groove edges to simplify installation. No finishing is required. An occasional dusting is the only maintenance needed.

Lining a closet with cedar is easy enough so that a handyman can complete the job in his free hours over a weekend. The cedar strips are applied by nailing them horizontally across walls and ceiling. Special cedar shelving also is available.

Space-saving hangers and fixtures can be attached easily anywhere on the continuous wood surface of a cedar-lined closet. Space also can be saved by utilizing the backs of the closet door for racks and small stands for hats, ties and umbrellas.

Year-Round Livability

Why not fix up your summer cottage so it will be livable during the winter months, too? This will add high value to your total real estate. Banks and loan agencies look with favor on homeowners who are improving their homes. This is especially true if you use durable materials such as ceramic tile for bathrooms and kitchens. Apply this quality principle to your "summer" cottage and you have a new home away from home.

Ready March on Ottawa

Talks Are Pressed To Avert Crippling Canada Ship Tieup

OTTAWA (AP) — Eleventh

hour talks between Washington and Ottawa raised the prospect today of placing Canada's feuding maritime unions under U.S.-backed private, rather than federal, trusteeship.

The negotiations were pressed as Hal C. Banks' Canadian Seafarers International Union (SIU), prime target of the trusteeship legislation, threatened to cripple Canadian shipping with a walkout and protest march on Ottawa.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson said Friday night that he hoped to achieve a "private arrangement" in the next day or two. He did not go into details.

The plan to place all five of Canada's maritime unions under federal trusteeship received royal assent Friday night but the government held off invoking the law designed to rid Great Lakes shipping of labor violence.

Pearson told the House of Commons the government was aware of "the danger that might be caused" by enforcing the federal plan. But he warned that the government would not be intimidated by a threatened SIU strike and would not postpone federal control indefinitely.

SIU members began tying up their vessels Friday and others were scheduled to follow today in response to the union's call for a protest march on the capital Monday.

SIU seafarers man more than 95 per cent of all Canadian flag vessels. There was no immediate evidence that Banks had 100 per cent support from his members.

Some shipping companies said a general walkout appeared to be under way. Others said they were continuing full operations.

Pearson condemned the SIU action but expressed hope "of an early and successful conclusion" to proposals for the private trusteeship currently being negotiated via telephone conversations between U.S. Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz in Washington and Canadian officials.

U.S. government officials and American labor unions favor the private trusteeship plan. The SIU has indicated it would prefer private trusteeship to federal trusteeship.

U.S. officials oppose the federal plan because of the SIU's affiliation with the AFL-CIO in the United States.

The Canadian government plan would have placed the SIU and four other Canadian maritime unions under the absolute control of federal trustees for three years.

The SIU claims it has not called a strike. It cited a clause in the labor contract permitting members to leave a ship to settle legal problems ashore.

Pearson also told the House of Commons that "every possible step that can be taken is being taken" to prevent a delay in wheat shipments to the Soviet Union.

Vehicle Injures Boy

A five-year-old Kingston boy was injured when he was struck by a car Friday afternoon on Hasbrouck Avenue.

Seipio Boler Jr., of 75 East Strand Street, suffered head injuries. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Mrs. Lona S. Weaver, 52, of 53 Sycamore Street, driver of the car which struck the child. She told police that she was driving south on Hasbrouck Avenue near Union when the boy ran from behind a truck into the street and was struck by the right front fender of her car. The child was knocked to the pavement, police said.

Arson Suspected

PRATTSBURG, N.Y. (AP)—Arson was believed involved in the destruction by fire Friday of a three-room cabin at the foot of a fire tower near this Steuben County community, a Conservation Department spokesman said.

The cabin, used by fire-watchers during the summer, was unoccupied.

It was not disclosed whether any arrests were made.

Brown Bag Stolen

Police wondered today whether there might be an intellectually inclined thief on the loose.

John Mager, of Woodstock, told police he placed a brown leather bag on the sidewalk while he unlocked the door of his car early today on Pearl Street near Fair. Unfortunately, he left without putting the bag in his car. He returned and it was gone.

Among its contents: two sets of bookends and a chess king trophy.

U.S. officials oppose the federal plan because of the SIU's affiliation with the AFL-CIO in the United States.

The Canadian government plan would have placed the SIU and four other Canadian maritime unions under the absolute control of federal trustees for three years.

The SIU claims it has not called a strike. It cited a clause in the labor contract permitting members to leave a ship to settle legal problems ashore.

Motorist Summoned

The operator of a car which was backing out of a driveway was issued a summons for unsafely backing from a drive Friday evening by Lake Katrine state police after a two car collision. Norman J. Peck, 35, of Lake Katrine, was issued a summons to appear before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly after his car had backed into a car operated by John Newkirk, 17, of Saugerties at 11:20 Friday. Newkirk was traveling north on Route 9W at the time.

space maneuver that will figure prominently in the two-man Gemini and three-man Apollo moon shots that are to follow the now-completed solo flights of Project Mercury.

R. Walter Cunningham, 31, a Santa Monica, Calif., civilian who is a captain in the Marine Air Reserve, is completing work on a doctorate in physics at the University of California at Los Angeles.

"They will be integrated into the rest of the group," said Maj. Donald K. Slayton, the coordinator of astronauts' affairs. "I wouldn't expect any of them to fly the first Gemini mission but they will be on other Gemini flights."

The average age of the new group is only 30, compared to 32.5 for the 1962 group and 34.5 for his Mercury group.

The new astronauts include seven Air Force, four Navy, one Marine, and two civilian pilots. The second civilian is Russell L. Schweickart, 27, Lexington, Mass., a captain in the Massachusetts Air National Guard and an astronautics engineer.

Navy Men on Team

In addition to Aldrin, the Air Force officers are Capt. William A. Anders, 30, Albuquerque, N.M., Capt. Donn F. Eisele, 33, Kirtland Air Force Base, N.M., and four Edwards Air Force Base Capt. Bassett H. 31, Capt. Michael Collins, 32, Capt. Theodore C. Freeman, 33, and Capt. David R. Scott, 31.

New Navy members of the team are Lt. Alan L. Bean, 31, Jacksonville, Fla., Lt. Roger B. Chaffee, 28, Fairborn, Ohio, and Lt. Eugene A. Cernan, 29, and Lt. Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr., 34, both of the U.S. Navy post graduate school at Monterey, Calif.

Joining Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. as the only Marines among the 30 was Capt. Clifton C. Williams Jr., 31, a test pilot at Quantico, Va.

Amendment Modified Under the provision, the government must charge not less than three-fourths of 1 per cent a year for the first five years. A House provision requires a 2 per cent floor all the way. The Senate provision also requires repayment in 35 years.

Under present policy a large part of the loans to underdeveloped countries are made at three-fourths of 1 per cent for 40 years.

The committee modified an amendment it had adopted Thursday which would disqualify any government seizing power through overthrow of freely-elected regimes unless the aid would be in the national interest. The language was changed to apply the ban only to Latin-American governments.

Clergy, Officials Attend Rites for Rev. James Kelley

Many clergymen and public officials attended the solemn High Mass of requiem sung at Mt. St. Alphonsus Chapel, Esopus, Thursday morning, Oct. 17, at 10 a. m. for the Rev. James S. Kelley CSSR, who died suddenly at the Presentation Church Rectory, Port Ewen, on Sunday Oct. 13, where he was acting pastor.

The Rev. John Maerz, CSSR, was celebrant, Rev. James Donlon, CSSR, deacon and Rev. John Stevens, CSSR, sub-deacon, Rev. William Barry, CSSR, master of ceremonies and the Rev. Charles O'Leary, CSSR, eulogist.

Responses to the Mass were sung by Mt. St. Alphonsus students. Burial was in St. Alphonsus Cemetery, Esopus where the Rev. Fr. Maerz, CSSR, assisted by the clergymen attending the Mass, gave the final blessing.

As Fr. Kelley CSSR lay in state at the Presentation Church many people from all walks of life, including clergy of other faiths, officials from Town of Esopus, City of Kingston and Ulster County, Town of Esopus Lions Club as well as representatives of labor visiting the church. Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. members of CYO, altar boys, Girl and Boy Scouts called and recited the Holy Rosary for the repose of his soul. The Presentation Womens Club at 7:30 and the Holy Name Society at 8 p. m. were present. Members of the Holy Name society acted as bearers and honorary escort at the church and cemetery. A solemn High Mass was offered at 10 a. m. on Wednesday at the Presentation Church for his parishioners. Rev. Francis Sweeney, CSSR, was celebrant, Rev. Ernest Tasker, CSSR, deacon, Rev. Raphael Gonzalez, CSSR, sub-deacon, and Rev. Michael Hopkins, CSSR, master of ceremonies. Responses to the Mass were sung by Mt. St. Alphonsus Student choir.

Police, who responded to the mid-afternoon fire on Burgevin, listed it as "definitely set." They also responded to the Grand View call, which was supposed to be an alarm of leaves burning. They said there was no sign of a fire in the vicinity.

Some Burning Leaves Police also answered a 12:50 p. m. call to 206 Downs Street, where leaves were burning. They said they also responded to calls shortly after 11 a. m. on Center Street and Plymouth Avenue, where, they said, persons were burning leaves.

Ulster County Mutual Aid reported Plattekill and Cragmoor responded to forest fires shortly after 7 Friday night. About a half hour later Mount Marion-Ruby battled another grass and brush fire that swept some three acres off Main Street in Ruby.

Remain Overnight

John Baldwin, observer at Overlook Fire Tower, who spotted yesterday's fire in a thickly wooded area of Route 212 east of the Woodstock dump in the Town Saugerties, said area fire wardens and volunteers remained there overnight when spots flared up. He said wardens were patrolling that area and other wooded sectors. The dump area fire was reported under control about 11:30 a. m. Friday, but firemen and wardens remained at the scene when flames flared up again. He said there was no official cause listed for that blaze.

Orange Fire Contained Meanwhile, the Associated Press reported, the Greenwood Lake area timberland fire in Orange County was believed contained today and there was no longer a danger to the nearby towns of Greenwood Lake and Warwick.

But to be sure, said Greenwood Lake Asst. Fire Chief Ted Ryerson, volunteer firefighters will remain mobilized and attempts will be made to get water-dropping aircraft to douse the persistent blaze.

The fire broke out Friday night at the top of the mountain and quickly ate through parched underbrush and timberland. At one point it was believed a direct menace to the Orange County communities. Hundreds of volunteers struggled to bring the fast-spreading fire under control before it could reach summer cottages.

It was the worst of the 83 fires which were burning in the state Friday night, including those in Ulster County, a fraction of the number burning in forests and woodlands in many rain-starved states.

The State Conservation Department reported meanwhile that a total of 381 fires had been recorded outside the New York City - Long Island area since Oct. 1.

The department expressed the hope that high school boys would turn out in force over the weekend to bolster the ranks of fire fighters weary by their round-the-clock labors in the woods.

The New York State Civil Service Employees Association urged the state to authorize overtime pay for rangers and other department personnel working long days during the emergency. Rangers and the others were exempted from overtime pay by rules that became effective last May.

Ingraham said the condition that fostered smog would develop during nighttime hours. He said weather forecasts indicated there would be intense inversions—with layers of warm air hovering over cooler air near the ground — keeping smoke and other air contaminants close to the ground at night.

May Continue Longer The situation might continue "over the weekend and possibly longer," he added.

In another development Friday, New York City's fire commissioner, Edward Thompson, banned outdoor burning of leaves and trash in the city, effective immediately with his order.

Earlier Friday, a state order was issued effective at 1 p. m. Saturday, closing the wooded lands and prohibiting outdoor burning in the city and on Long

Faces License Charge

Ruby Maspell, 27, of Tilton was issued a summons for unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle Friday about 6 p. m. when the car she was operating and a car operated by August Colao Jr., 24, were in collision on Route 32 in Town of Rosendale. She will appear later before Justice Edward Brodsky of Town of Rosendale. The Maspell car was traveling north on Route 32 when the Colao car attempted to pass but—because of oncoming traffic pulled back and the cars collided. The accident was investigated by Trooper Norman Kilfoyle.

Will Prosecute

vage, along with Excelsior, Wiltwyck and Union Hoes, answered a call to a leaf fire at Burgevin and Pearl Streets. That was one of the three alarms in that area. Earlier, at 4:47 p. m., firemen were called to a leaf fire opposite 89 Burgevin. There, a witness reportedly saw two boys run out of the woods at the time of the fire.

Fire Threat Spreads

At 1:56 p. m., firemen answered an alarm on Noone Street. The fire threat there spread from Pearl Street to Lindenman Avenue.

While fire fighters were busy battling burning leaves and logs on Burgevin and Noone, Engine 2 was dispatched to 26 Grand View Avenue. There was no fire. The fire department log book also recorded the alarm as a "malicious false alarm."

The city directory lists no number 26 on Grand View Avenue. At 3:08 firemen answered another alarm where leaves were burning on Burgevin Street. This was extinguished by Indian tanks from Engine 2 and Wiltwyck Volunteers.

Police, who responded to the mid-afternoon fire on Burgevin, listed it as "definitely set." They also responded to the Grand View call, which was supposed to be an alarm of leaves burning. They said there was no sign of a fire in the vicinity.

in the cold war" was achieved "by the firmness we displayed a year ago as well as by our restraint—by our efforts for defense over the last two years as well as our efforts for peace."

Although Kennedy used strong language to emphasize the dangers inherent in East-West differences, his principal theme was more moderate:

"While maintaining our readiness for war, let us exhaust every avenue of peace. Let us always make clear both our willingness to talk, if talk will help, and our readiness to fight, if fight we must."

Should Not Regret Accords

One thought recorded in Kennedy's text: that whatever happens in future, the United States should not regret recent East-West accords, described as "slight progress on a long journey."

Kennedy said even a Soviet violation of the limited nuclear test ban, or a sudden Communist bloc refusal to buy American wheat, would provide no reason for regrets.

Referring to the test ban treaty, the proposed wheat deal and an agreement to ban nuclear weapons from outer space, Kennedy said:

"We have concluded with the Soviets a few limited, enforceable agreements or arrangements of mutual benefit to both sides and the world."

Opposed by Goldwater

Goldwater opposes all three arrangements. Said Kennedy:

"It is in our national self-interest to ban nuclear testing in the atmosphere so that all citizens can breathe easier. It is in our national self-interest to sell surplus wheat in storage to feed Russian and Eastern Europeans who are willing to divert large portions of their limited foreign exchange reserves away from the implementation of war. It is in our national self-interest to keep weapons of mass destruction out of outer space."

All these moves, he said, have a goal: "convincing the Soviet leaders that it is dangerous for them to engage in direct or indirect aggression, futile for them to attempt to impose their will and their system on other unwilling peoples, and beneficial to them, as well as all the world, to join in the achievement of a genuine and enforceable peace."

Kennedy added that "no one of these small advances, nor all of them taken together, can be interpreted as meaning that the United States is abandoning its basic aims and ambitions."

Says Views Still Differ He said the United States and the Soviet Union "still have wholly different views on so-called wars of liberation and the use of subversion."

So long as these differences exist, he said, they will lead to recurrent crises "both in areas of direct confrontation, such as Germany and the Caribbean," and in Africa, Asia and the Middle East "where events beyond our control involve us both."

Kennedy made only a fleeting reference to the most recent American-Soviet confrontation, Communist troops last week blocked an American military convoy.

He said no "future, less friendly Soviet action, whether it is a stoppage on the autobahn, or a veto in the U.N., or a spy in our midst, or new trouble elsewhere," should "cause us to regret the steps we have taken."

Should the United States be unwilling to make "every reasonable effort to improve relations," he said, "we could not respect the leadership and respect of the free world."

He added that without such an effort, "we could never, in case of war, satisfy our own hearts and minds that we had done that that could be done to avoid that holocaust."

Emotional Passage

"My fellow Americans: If this planet is ever ravaged by nuclear war—if 300 million Americans, Russians and Europeans are wiped out by a 60-minute nuclear exchange—if the pitiable survivors of that devastation can then endure the ensuing fire, poison, chaos and catastrophe—I do not want one of those survivors to ask another 'How did it all happen?' and to receive the incredible reply: 'Oh, if only one knew.'"

In Boston, Kennedy will speak from the same armory platform where Goldwater, on Wednesday, termed him a "would-be king" who has created "a madhouse of massive spending programs."

Kennedy aides promised in advance that his address at the University of Maine campus would be significant.

Interest in the speech was heightened by recent Soviet harassment of American, and British military convoys on the Berlin autobahn, and by a statement Friday by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that American, British and Soviet talks on easing East-West tensions have been going badly.

Also, there was the backdrop of Goldwater's announced opposition to the partial nuclear test ban treaty, to sales of wheat to the Soviet bloc, and the United Nations' ban on nuclear weapons in outer space.

French Send Up Cat

PARIS (AP)—A French rocket hurtled a cat into space Friday over the French Sahara base at Hammaguir, and the animal landed safely by parachute, the French Defense Ministry announced.

The ministry did not say how high the rocket carried the cat. But in 1960 a rocket carried a mouse up about 120 miles.

Island. These areas had been exempted from last Sunday's order imposing the same restrictions on the rest of the state.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Cornelia B. Richter

Funeral services for Mrs. Cornelia Bonesteel Richter, 82, of 26 Lafayette Avenue, who died Tuesday after a lengthy illness, were held at 2 p. m. Friday from the Keyser Funeral Service, Kingston Chapel, Albany and Manor Avenues, with the Rev. C. Pershing Hunter, pastor of the St. James Methodist Church, of which Mrs. Richter was a member, officiating. On Thursday evening at 7:30, a large delegation from the Vanderlyn Council 41, Daughters of America, called at the chapel and held ritualistic services for the departed member. Committal services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Hunter at Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Mrs. Ruth J. Shiels

Funeral services for Mrs. Ruth J. Shiels, Lake Katrine, who died Wednesday, were held from the A. Carr and Son Funeral Home at 2 p. m. Friday. Mrs. Shiels was injured Sept. 27 when her car went out of control on Neighborhood Road about a half mile north of Route 209. Although she suffered multiple rib fractures and other injuries, Coroner Francis J. McCordie said death was due to pericarditis. The services, which were largely attended, were conducted by the Rev. Edward C. Coon, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church. On Thursday evening many friends called to pay their respects. Burial was in Montepose Cemetery.

Mrs. Frances A. Castor

The funeral of Mrs. Frances A. Castor of 144 St. James Street who died suddenly Wednesday morning, was held Friday at the W. W. Conner Funeral Home Inc., 206 Fair Street, thence to St. Joseph's Church where at 9:30 a. m. a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. William E. Williams. Thursday night Father Williams visited the funeral home and assisted by relatives and friends recited the Holy Rosary. Floral tributes were many and beautiful and many spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards were received. Final blessing and absolution was offered at the grave in St. Mary's Cemetery. Bearers were William Winter, Ernest Worth, John O'Brien and Cosmo Costello.

Mrs. Grace L. Mumford

Funeral services for Mrs. Grace L. Mumford of Forest Glen Park, who died on Tuesday, were held from the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany Avenue on Friday at 2

Health Conference Slated for Friday

A child health conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held Oct. 25 from 10 to 11 a. m. at the Tumor Clinic building, 400 Broadway.

These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

These are well child clinics for the maintenance of health and prevention of disease, not for the care of the sick child. Children under the regular health supervision of their own physician are not admitted unless the physician desires this service to be taken over by the Child Health Conference. In this manner, duplication of service is avoided, facilitating the work of the private physician.

Capitol News in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

FAR EAST TRIP: President Kennedy has decided against making a trip to the Far East this year.

It was learned that Kennedy has accepted the advice of aides and delayed the proposed trip to Japan and other nations until next year, possibly February.

Kennedy was reported to would be a poor time to make the trip, with Congress likely to be still in session debating the President's tax cut and civil rights bills.

Kennedy is believed to be considering visits to Japan, South Korea, Indonesia, Malaysia, Australia and the Philippines.

JOINT MOON SHOT: The space agency has asked the Senate to cut out a House-sponsored provision in the space appropriations bill forbidding joint U.S.-Soviet space ventures.

James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told a Senate appropriations subcommittee headed by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., "I would hope the Senate would take this language out. This does not help the image of the United States."

Brown Becomes 13th President of St. Lawrence 'U'

CANTON, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Foster S. Brown became St. Lawrence University's 13th president today and, in his inaugural address, emphasized the importance of helping students adjust to a changing world.

"Education must meet its responsibility," he said in his prepared speech, "to so educate people that they can initiate change, interpret change, redirect or block change—in other words, enable them to act or react to the powerful forces confronting us today."

Brown, a 1930 graduate of St. Lawrence, had been president of the State University College at Oswego.

World News In Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dag's Notes Bared

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Although outwardly composed, Dag Hammarskjöld had a strong premonition of death, his personal notes show.

Published Friday in a volume called "Road Signs," Hammarskjöld's notes portray a troubled, lonely, death-haunted man who mustered the courage to carry on his mission as U.N. secretary-general. Hammarskjöld was killed in an air crash in Africa in September 1961.

Hammarskjöld left the notes in his New York apartment with instructions to a close friend, Leif Belfrage, that he could publish them "if you deem them worthy."

Guard Flees to West

BERLIN (AP)—A 22-year-old East German border guard rammed a tractor through a barbed wire barricade and fled on foot into West Berlin Friday.

West German authorities said the soldier had been assigned to guard workers digging a trench to make escapes more difficult. When the tractor became stuck two-thirds of the way through the barrier, he jumped off and ran into the French sector.

Cuban Niterys Close

HAVANA (AP)—In a move that probably will close most of Cuba's eating and drinking establishments, the Cuban Workers' Federation has ordered all bar, night club and restaurant workers to join in the effort to repair damage from Hurricane Flora.

The workers will be moved into the country's badly hit fields. No date for reopening the establishments was mentioned in Friday's announcement.

Thuc Draws Boos

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Archbishop Pierre Martin Ngô Đình Thuc, a brother of South Viet Nam's president, told a Roman Catholic group Friday night that Vietnamese Buddhists who burn themselves to death are fanatics. The audience reacted with jeers and boos.

But Archbishop Thuc, who had been warned by the Vatican against talking politics outside his archdiocese of Hue, Viet Nam, claimed that "in the Far East suicide is a very ordinary means of protest, a means of stopping human suffering. Suicide is part of the Oriental philosophy of life."

The archbishop is attending the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Defense Gem for Thinkers

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is a little gem from "Winning Defense," South ducks the first heart and wins the second in dummy. Then he plays a low club and East should rise with his king. It won't do him any real good to hang on to it and if West has the ace of clubs the play of the king will allow him to save it as a later entry for the heart suit.

If East doesn't play the king it is still possible to defeat the contract, but a lot of defense is necessary.

To start, West must hold back his ace. A second club lead will knock out East's king and East will return his last heart. South will take his ace and lead his queen of diamonds for a finesse. East will be in with the king and have no better play than a diamond return.

Dummy will cash three diamond tricks. East will follow suit while South will discard either two clubs or a spade and a club. It doesn't actually matter.

However, West's one discard is most important. He is looking at two rather little spades a couple of good hearts and the ace of clubs and if he is careless and throws away one of those spades he will give South the hand. Instead, he should discard a heart.

Now South leads a spade to his king and East must play carefully. He must play either the nine or ten of spades—not the five spot. Finally, South leads a second spade and you can see why it was important for West to have one left. He plays the eight of spades and if South ducks in dummy that eight will hold the trick.

Port Jervis Demolishes Kingston, 33-6, in DUSO Struggle

Spears Scores Two TDs, Passes for Third to Lead Win

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Ricky Spears, a football magician, scored two touchdowns, passed for a third and quarterbacked his unbeaten Port Jervis teammates to a convincing, 33-6, DUSO league verdict over Kingston High before a full house last night at Glennette Field in Port Jervis.

The Section Nine golf champ showed the partisan crowd he can do just as well on the gridiron as he can off the tee. The junior quarterback gave a masterful exhibition of play calling as the Porters came from behind to record their fourth straight success and first in league activity.

Make no mistakes about it, Spears wasn't all the home side had to show but he was the ringleader. He scored the first two PJ touchdowns, on a quarterback sneak from the two and on an end run. After rugged guard Brian Seebor blocked a KHS punt and fell on it in the end zone, Spear passed for 30 yards to end Charles Bayer for the fourth score. He also set up the final TD, made by Ray Schulz on a seven yard slant. Joe Nolan kicked three extra points.

Good Passing Show
Quarterback Paul Gruner put on a masterful passing show for Kingston. The big boy totaled 205 yards on his 13 completions, six of them being caught by end Jim Plunket. Gruner scored the KHS touchdown on a sneak from the two.

Reserve Dan McGrane blocked an attempted punt and Kingston recovered on the Port Jervis 42 late in the opening session. From there, Gruner led the locals to a touchdown, needing only six plays to do the trick.

The big gainer was a 37 yard toss to Plunket, who was brought down on the two. On the third play from that point, Gruner went up the middle in a sneak. His try for the extra point was blocked.

That first score only served to wake up the Raiders of Coach Joe Vigilione. They put their high scoring offense into gear and came back to get the tying touchdown.

Ricky Scores
With Spears directing the signals, the Raiders moved 63 yards in 13 plays. The flashy quarterback bootlegged it around his own left end early in the second period. When Joe Nolan split the uprights with his PAT, the Porters were in front for keeps.

Gruner combined with Plunket on a 53 yard pass play on the next sequence of downs. It carried to the PJ 22 and it appeared as if the Maroon players would get that touchdown back.

After a roughing the passer penalty moved the piskin to the 11, Gruner carried to the five. On the next play, he fumbled and Paul Costie of Port Jervis recovered it on the one.

Given that big break, the home side cushed in, moving 99 yards in 11 plays. Spears, Schulz and fullback John Bell took turns lugging the ball with Ricky turning the corner at the four. Nolan's kick was wide.

A Blocked Punt
Seebor, the big boy on the Raider's tough line, which limited Kingston to a net gain of 28 yards on the ground, broke through and blocked an attempted punt by Gruner midway through the third period. The ball rolled into the end zone and Seebor pounced on it like a starved cat jumping on a canary.

For all intents and purposes, this score broke the game open. The home side the momentum and couldn't be stopped. They got the piskin, in 11 plays. The small but fast line was punching big holes and the pony backfield aces were moving right through.

Spears tossed 30 yards to Bayer for the touchdown. The end made a nice catch, snatching the ball away from defensive halfback Len Mills, who appeared to be in line for an interception.

The Final Score
Seebor (what a game he played) pounced on a KHS bobble on the 47 and the Porters were off to the races again. They ate up the yardage in six plays. The big gainer was a 22 yard pass from Spears to Dick Pepper.

This moved the ball to the seven and Schulz dove up the middle for the score. Nolan again converted.

With time running out, Gruner took to the air and moved his club all the way to the three. He hit on six of 10 pass attempts in the march.

Mantle Operation Called a Success
NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle, the oft-injured star outfielder for the New York Yankees, is expected to be as good as ever when the 1964 baseball season opens.

Mantle underwent Friday what Dr. Sidney Gaynor termed a successful operation for the removal of cartilage from his left knee. This latest notation on Mantle's injury card stemmed from the broken left foot he suffered in a game at Baltimore in June that kept him sidelined most of the season.

Mantle is expected to remain in the hospital here for a week, then return to his home in Dallas for further rest. By January he will be able to start jogging.

Unknowns Share Las Vegas Lead
By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Gay Brewer and Bob Harrison, relative unknowns in tournament play, led the way into the third round of the $70,000 Sahara Invitational Golf tournament today. The two stars of the show were still waiting in the wings to make a dramatic appearance.

That would be Jack Nicklaus, who is now only four strokes off the pace, and Arnold Palmer, five shots back.

Brewer, a well-seasoned 31-year-old pro from Kentucky who now plays out of Dallas, and Harrison, 25, from Palm Desert, Calif., were tied at 137, as play was set to continue over the par 36-35-71, 7,958-yard Paradise Valley Country Club course.

Harrison shot a brilliant 64 Friday to break the course record of 65 held by Chi Chi Rodriguez of Puerto Rico. The Californian had a 33-31-64.

Brewer shot a 68 to gain his tie for the top.

Al Geiberger, who led in the first round with a 67, had two bad holes on the back nine and settled for a 71 and a tie at 138 with George Knudson.

Nicklaus, after even par on the first nine, got hot and came in with a 30 for his 66 and a total of 141. He was eight strokes off the lead starting the round. Palmer had two successive 71s for 142.

Long Shots Capture Races at Roosevelt
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A pair of aptly named long shots, Golden Make It and Worthy Promise, stamped upsets on the New York State harness racing picture Friday night.

Golden Make It won by a neck over pacesetter Lively Rodney in the $29,524 Proximity Trot for 2-year-old fillies at Roosevelt Raceway.

Golden Make It stepped off a 2:06 4-5 mile and paid $26.40. Myra finished third.

Worthy Promise closed fast in the stretch to take the $1,200 feature trot at Saratoga Raceway. The time was 2:08 4-5.

The bay gelding edged out Sunny Hi Le by a half-length and paid $43.10. Little Victor was third.

Other harness action:
Batavia Downs — Rhythm Chief captured the featured $1,200 conditioned pace by 3/4 of a length over Virginia's Boy. Lusty Thoughts was third. Rhythm Chief paid $8.30. The time was 2:04 4-5.

Vernon Downs — Carolina Hoot staged a powerful stretch drive to capture the $2,000 Invitational Handicap Trot in 2:02 3-5. Glen Garnsey drove and notched his 99th victory of the season. Carolina Hoot paid $7.90.

KHS Harriers Top Middies, Bailey Upsets Dave Ennis

Rich Bailey handed Dave (Chip) Ennis his first loss in two seasons but the well-balanced Kingston High cross country walloped Middletown, 20-40, at the losers' course.

Bailey broke the course record and beat his best previous time by more than a minute as he went the 2.2 miles in 10 minutes, 19 seconds. He clipped 21 seconds off the previous mark and beat Ennis by one second with a big kick in the final 10 yards.

Following the top two across the finish line were George Brocco, Garry Goggin, James Hogan and Dick Plaatsman, all of Kingston.

Coach Bob Fitzmaurice will take his unbeaten harriers to Bear Mountain next Friday for the DUSO meet. Kingston is the heavy favorite to win but the individual battle between Ennis, Bailey and Port's John Kinnie should be well worth watching.

Rodriguez Hands McClure 1st Loss

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "I fight Griffith first and Tiger next — now and right here."

The ever-exuberant Luis Rodriguez, bubbling and still full of vitality, made the comment shortly after he had dropped and drubbed the previously undefeated Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure of Toledo in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Emile Griffith is the welterweight champion and Dick Tiger holds the middleweight title. In two fights earlier this year, Rodriguez won and lost in title fights with Griffith.

The remark about Griffith and Tiger was made when the energetic Cuban was asked what he wanted next.

Rodriguez, who was out-weighted 150 1/2 to 150 1/2 by the taller McClure, praised his victim, who had entered the ring with a perfect 14-0 record. Luis is 52-3 now.

"He's a very good prospect," said Luis. I think he can become the middleweight champion unless I am the champion.

Rodriguez, a 2-1 favorite, forced a relentless pace and fired fierce barrages to the body. In the early moments of the third round he floored the fighting school teacher with a solid right to the jaw.

McClure staggered to his feet at four and was given the mandatory eight-count by referee Teddy Martin.

Dick Hinkley School Boy Run At Hasbrouck Next Saturday

Ulster County boys between 10 and 18 years of age are invited to participate in the second annual Dick Hinkley School Boy Run, sponsored by the County CYO. The event will take place Saturday, Oct. 26, 2 p. m., at Hasbrouck Park.

Boys from 10 to 13 years of age will compete in the midget division at a race distance of one-half mile. Boys 13 to 15 are to be in the junior division at a race distance of one mile and those from 15 to 18 will compete at a mile and a half in the metro division.

Those in the metro group must not have participated on a high school track team. If interest warrants, a special race will be run for those who have had high school experience.

A trophy will be awarded the winning team and the first boy in each division will be awarded an individual trophy. Those finishing second, third and fourth will receive CYO medals.

The race is named in honor of Dick Hinkley, a youth worker in Ulster County for many years and former president of the Ulster County CYO committee. In case of rain, a new date will be announced.

Cappelletti Has 22 Points, Patriots Rap Denver, 40-21

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—A rejuvenated Gino Cappelletti and a changed Denver defense are two reasons Boston is threatening New York's Eastern Division lead in the American Football League.

The Patriots defeated the Broncos 40-21 Friday night, sent their record to 4-3 and edged to within 29 percentage points of the Jets. Cappelletti accounted for 22 points with a touchdown, four field goals and four conversions as his AFL scoring lead soared to 69.

Quarterback Babe Parilli, healthy once more, credited the Denver change for his ability to complete 21 of 31 passes for 331 yards and two touchdowns.

Talk persisted before this season that Cappelletti might be traded.

"Two years ago I was on top," Cappelletti said. "Last year the defensive backs in the league improved and I didn't. A lot of times my timing was way off. Before this season I did a lot of work at getting quicker."

Switch Defenses
Asked about Boston's biggest offensive show since the opener, Parilli explained, "Denver changed the defense. They used a lot of zone and 5-1 on pass defense when the Broncos beat us 14-10 out there. But Friday night they switched to one-on-one and we can beat anybody at one-on-one with Cappelletti and Jimmy Colough.

I guess they switched because they probably figured they'd catch us off guard."

The rest of the AFL swings into action Sunday afternoon with San Diego at Kansas City in the key game. The Chargers currently lead the Western Division with a 4-1 mark and the defending champion Chiefs, 2-2, must win to stay in contention.

Sport Club Booters To Host Schenectady

Seeking their sixth straight triumph of the season, Kingston Sport Club booters will host the Schenectady Football Club in a Central New York game on Sunday, 3 o'clock, at Oehler's Mountain Lodge field.

The visitors, tied for fourth place in the circuit, have one of the best goalies in the league. They have won only once in six starts but have been tied three times.

With veteran Al Miller back in the lineup, the locals will be at full strength for the match on Sunday. They are seeking a victory to keep their first place margin and to extend their streak over the rest of the league.

Burns' Job Is Safe As Iowa Grid Coach

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Iowa Athletic Director Forest Evashevski says football Coach Jerry Burns' job is safe "whether he wins or loses."

Evashevski said in an interview Friday night he is behind Burns regardless of the Hawkeyes' record this fall.

Burns, an assistant coach at Iowa for seven years, replaced Evashevski as head coach for the 1961 season when Evashevski stepped out to concentrate on his job as athletic director.

Ranked as the pre-season favorite for the national title when Burns took over, Iowa lost key players to injuries and finished with a 5-4 record. Last year the Hawkeyes had a 4-5 mark, worst since 1955.

Going into Saturday's game with Wisconsin, Iowa had a record of two victories and a tie.

HELEN TOMPKINS socked 184, 166 and 159 for 509 to pace the Women's B Classic. Lee North made 478, Jean Decker 467 and Eileen Spader 453. Results: Babcocks Dairy 3, Bob's Grocery 0; Vineland Rest 2.

Man, 68, Faces Murder Charge, Neighbor Slain

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A 68-year-old man faces trial on a charge of first-degree murder in the shotgun slaying of a neighbor.

Willie Smith, of Buffalo, was indicted on the charge Friday. He was accused of shooting Curtis Hooper, 42, of Buffalo, in a dispute over room rent last Aug. 1. Smith has pleaded innocent.

No date was set for the trial.

Oven Fire Quelled

A grease fire which flared up in a kitchen oven at 24 Elizabeth Street Friday afternoon, damaged the oven and filled the two-story home with heavy smoke.

Deputy Fire Chief Julius E. Buchholtz said the blaze broke out about 4:40 p. m. in a two-story frame building owned and occupied by Lawrence F. McHugh. He said that the fire was out on arrival of firemen, but it was necessary to use smoke ejectors to clear the rooms. Deputy Chief Buchholtz said the fire started when grease from food in the kitchen wall oven ignited, causing fire damage to the oven and stove.

Even White House Gets SOS

Cupid for Cadets Plan Throws Windy City, Gals Into Ruckus

CHICAGO (AP)—Plans to play cupid to cadets from two service academies have thrown City Hall and the city's working girls into a ruckus that has led to a call for help from the White House.

The controversy was stirred up initially by two 18-year-old secretaries who complained that somebody in City Hall had banned them from attending the big Army - Air Force football dance Nov. 2.

Just for College Girls

"My girl friend and I went to City Hall, room 610, to apply for being cadets' dates like the newspapers said we could," Susan Benedetti related.

"A woman secretary or something told us, 'Oh, I'm sorry. Didn't you know? It's just for college girls.'"

Reports of the incident eventually got to Col. Jack Reilly, aide to Mayor Richard J. Daley and chief cupid for the big Saturday night affair. He denied working girls were being cut out in the date matching.

"Such poppycock," he said. "The trouble is, we got three times as many applications as we could possibly need. The ones who were turned down are writing to everyone in the world, griping."

On Wednesday, Miss Benedetti and her disappointed girlfriend, Jeanine D'Angelo, shot off a letter to the White House complaining they were being "rankly discriminated against" by City Hall.

The big ball was planned for about 5,000 West Point and Air Force Academy cadets coming for the game.

Col. Reilly, unaware of the gathering storm, earlier this month checked out his blind date plans with officers from the academies.

"Nothing would please the mayor more than to have 5,000 cadets come to the ball," he announced.

Nothing Pickup

"But we must know who is coming to the affair—in advance. There's going to be nothing pickup about this thing. We are keeping this on a high level."

After the officers reported a large number of lower classmen probably would need dates the mayor's aide issued a call for "1,000 girls with the average age of 18, and a few in the upper bracket of 19."

Applicants, including Miss Benedetti and her girlfriend, flocked to City Hall.

Col. Reilly reported Friday that applications had been accepted from working girls and from a large number of young women on lists submitted by deans of local colleges, universities and nursing schools.

Mrs. William Arnold of Lake Forest, who heads the City Hall committee piling the list down to 800 or so, said the prospective dates are being checked for height, poise, intelligence — and occupation.

disclose results, said it had the most profitable first nine months since 1957.

A note of discord was struck in the predominantly rosy picture by suggestions from Secretary of the Treasury Douglas H. Dillon and others of trouble ahead for business—possibly in 1964 — unless Congress cuts taxes.

Dillon said he wasn't predicting a recession but that a letdown might develop without the stimulus of a tax cut.

The nation's airlines figures in other important development.

Trans World Airlines and Pan American World Airways called off a proposal to merge into the country's biggest air transport system. Legal difficulties were cited, along with delay in a start of hearings by government regulators.

CAB Rate Dispute

In another move, the Civil Aeronautics Board stepped into a domestic rate-cutting squabble involving nearly all major lines, in effect decreeing a cooling-off period.

Dillon sprung a surprise in his tax-cut testimony by registering administration opposition to a provision in the House bill lowering rates on certain capital gains transactions.

The Treasury secretary said the provision unduly favored a small group of very wealthy taxpayers.

Here and there around the business scene: General Foods and two other major roasters raised wholesale coffee prices, marking up ground coffee 2 cents a pound and the instant products 1 cent a pound.

Warner & Swasey Co., Cleveland machinery and controls system manufacturers, proposed a 2 for 1 stock split.

Card Party Tonight

Members of the Rosendale Grange will hold a card party tonight at the Grange Hall. The public is invited.

Record Overtime Work

Nonfarm employment gained beyond expectations. The factory work week lengthened. Overtime work in factories equaled a seven-year record. Steel production posted its eighth consecutive weekly increase, partly out of strengthening demand from automakers.

A key stock market indicator, the Dow-Jones industrial average, bobbed to new peaks as investors responded to the lure of lustrous profit statements.

Although their earnings figures aren't out yet, Chrysler and General Motors shares pushed to all-time record levels on the strength of glowing car sales reports.

International Business Machines, American Airlines and American Electric Power were among a bevy of companies reporting third-quarter or nine-month earnings marks.

Bill Would Limit Offices of Staff Chief to 4 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—The civilian chiefs of the Pentagon have gone another round with the House Armed Services Committee—and lost.

At a subcommittee meeting, nine members pushed through a bill Friday aimed at what they consider is too much civilian interference with the armed services.

And there may be more rounds before the year is out in the long bout.

The committee is expected to start battering the Defense Department for a few moves made toward eliminating racial discrimination near military bases.

On the surface, the bill approved Friday would make a simple change: It would set a flat four-year term—without reappointment—for all members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Under present laws, the President usually—but not always—makes appointments for two years and then reappoints the chief if he wants to keep him longer.

But the bill has more significant overtones, for it stems from a belief by some subcommittee members that there is a civilian gag on the military chiefs, a gag that could be plucked away by the security of a four-year term.

The bill was introduced, in fact, after President Kennedy had refused to reappoint Adm. George W. Anderson for a second two-year term as chief of naval operations.

Some congressmen viewed this as punishment of Anderson for speaking his mind too freely before committees of Congress.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., approved the bill by a 9-4 vote.

It goes before the full committee Oct. 29. Passage there is assured since the bill was introduced in the first place by Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., powerful chairman of the full committee.

The Kennedy administration's strong opposition to the bill seemed to have little effect on the determination of Hebert's subcommittee to approve it.

Roswell L. Gilpatric, deputy secretary of defense, testified that the administration feels the bill would tie the President's hands, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara wrote the subcommittee that the President should have free choice of his military advisors.

Area Agents Will Attend CLU Class

Several area residents are among 62 men enrolled in the Albany Association of Life Underwriters, Northeastern New York Chapter CLU of the Albany General Agents and Managers group.

It is reported that the class is the largest CLU study group recorded by the association.

Enrolled from this area and the companies they are associated with are: Lewis N. Eaton, 261 Fair Street, Berkshire; William T. Ellis, 277 Fair Street, Prudential; John P. Hall, R.D. 1, Accord, Travelers; Lance H. Lasher, 82 Fair Street, Equitable Life Assurance; Robert M. McManis, 277 Fair Street, Prudential; Lester D. Price, same address and company; Charles C. Roach II, 42 Main Street, Home Life, and Roger W. Vogt, R.D. 5, Kingston, Monarch Life.

The annual meeting of the chapter and conference exercises will be held Thursday, Oct. 24 at 6:30 p. m. at the Albany Country Club.

Pocketbook Missing

Mrs. Vincent Carr, of Box 75, Mount Marion RD 5, reported to police the loss of her pocketbook between 9:30 and 9:50 p. m. Friday from a second floor classroom at Kingston High School.

She said the pocketbook contained money, keys, her driver's license and personal cards and papers. Patrolmen Kenneth Radel and Ernest Bartroff investigated.

Fog Suspends Flights

NEW YORK (AP)—All flights at Idlewild and Newark airports were suspended, this morning because of dense fog. Port Authority police said.

Operations at LaGuardia Airport were reported normal, but flight traffic there is ordinarily light Saturday mornings, police said.

Pick Two Queens

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP)—University of Idaho men were keen to choose a homecoming queen, but from five finalists they couldn't pick between a pair.

So they picked both of them. Tied in the all-male campus vote were Kathy Baxter, 20, a reddish blonde from Buhl, Idaho and Jeri Ross, 20, a brunette from Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

There is a happy bonus for alumni president James Roper of Burley, Idaho. He will get to give two pretty girls congratulatory kisses, instead of one.

Widow Dies of Burns

JOHNSONVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—An 86-year-old widow was killed Friday when her clothing caught fire apparently while she was trying to clean her gas stove.

State Police said Mrs. Addie Snow died of burns and smoke inhalation from the fire in her home near this Rensselaer County village.

Oswego Man Is Slain by Shotgun Following Party

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—A 47-year-old man was killed today by a shotgun blast at the home of his sister-in-law and police said they were questioning "several young men" in the shooting.

Police said the victim was Charles Anthony of Oswego.

The shooting apparently came in the aftermath of a party Friday night at the home of Mrs. Mary Matott, Anthony's sister-in-law, investigators said.

Police said one of the youths under questioning—an 18-year-old—admitted he had left the house during the party and later returned with a shotgun.

Anthony's body was found behind a pellet-blasted bedroom door.

Three other doors also were blasted, apparently by a shotgun, police said.

The shooting occurred while Mrs. Matott was out of the house, police said.

Anthony was a widower.

Benefits Still Due Vets' Widows

While eligibility for GI loans has been running out for World War II veterans daily since July 25, 1962, the same formula does not apply to unmarried widows of World War II veterans whose death was due to service-connected disabilities, John M. Powers, acting manager of the Albany Veterans Administration Regional Office pointed out today.

These widows have the maximum entitlement for the World War II group which extends until July 25, 1967.

Eligibility for Korean Conflict veterans does not begin to expire until January 31, 1965 and their maximum entitlement extends to January 31, 1975. Unmarried widows of Korean Conflict veterans whose death was due to service-connected disabilities enjoy the maximum entitlement to the 1975 date.

The same formula is applied to determine the eligibility of both World War II and Korean Conflict veterans. Veterans of World War II with 90 days of active service and a discharge other than dishonorable have entitlement for 10 years from the last discharge from active wartime service plus an additional year for each three months of wartime service.

Basic eligibility requirements are the same for Korean Conflict veterans but in no event will their ten-year period begin after January 31, 1955, should their discharge have occurred at a later date.

Further details may be obtained from the Contact Division of the VA Regional Office, 12-16 Russell Road, Westgate Building, Albany, N. Y.

Workers Named For West Hurley Scout Fund Drive

Solicitations chairman to take charge of groups of solicitors to secure support for the 1963 Boy Scout campaign in West Hurley have been announced by Lawrence R. Deede, general chairman.

Chosen as majors are Harry O. Weiger, Maverick Road, Woodstock and Marlin B. Klingler, West Hurley. Team captains chosen to head teams in their respective areas were Donald A. Large, Maverick Road; Howard Hopkins Sr., Glenford; Edward J. Carr, West Hurley and James Goins and Everett Glass, Reservoir Area.

Actual calls by solicitors were to begin Friday. This year's fund drive has as its theme:

"Scout's Builds Better Men."

The increased number of boys in Ulster and Greene County participating in Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting and Exploring programs creates a need for additional volunteers and funds. The campaign is necessary in the West Hurley area because the local Scouting program is not supported by the Ulster County Community Chest as it is in Kingston, Saugerties, Marlletown, Esopus and New Paltz.

Judge Rules Coin Machines Illegal Gambling Devices

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A city court judge has ruled that coin machines that dispense gumball and trinkets are illegal gambling devices under state law.

Judge Joseph J. Sedita held Friday that the law was designed for the protection of children and "to dissuade an appeal for children to gamble which is based on attraction and curiosity."

He convicted the Folz Vending Co. Inc., of Oceanside, L.I., accused of unlawfully installing coin machines in a Buffalo store.

Included in the machines were four replicas of shrunken heads and reproductions of baseballs with different plays printed on them. Asst. Dist. Atty. Robert Rosinski said an element of chance existed in the use of the machines.

Judge Sedita said, "it is not the machine per se that brings it within the purview of the law, but rather its use."

Judge Sedita set Wednesday for the sentencing.
